ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — "A time for good friends and good food" sets the stage for the annual Pennsylvania Poultry Federation Fund Raising Banquet next Wednesday, April 19, here at the Hershey Convention Center.

More than 1,400 poultry producers and agri-business representatives, family, and friends will be on hand at the annual banquet, which provides 75 percent of the Federation's annual operating budget.

"All you have to do is buy a ticket and have a good time," said John Hoffman, executive director of the Federation. Tickets are $125 each.

Many new food items are planned for the event, according to Hoffman, including hors d'oeuvres and a new chicken entree, "Casablanca Chicken." The social begins

FARMER Dinner Set

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — Richard Rominger, deputy secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture — and acting head of the agency prior to the recent confirmation of USDA Secretary Dan Glickman — will speak at the 15th annual statewide FARMER dinner, Friday, May 12 at the Hershey Hotel.

FARMER, Farmers Allied for Responsive, More Effective Representation, is the bipartisan political action committee of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau (PFB). PFB is a voluntary, statewide organization which represents 26,167 member families.

"Funds raised at the upcoming FARMER Dinner will be used to help 'friends of agriculture' get elected to the General Assembly," explained FARMER committee chairman Jim Cappucci. "FARMER is the only political action committee in Pennsylvania owned and controlled by farmers for farmers."

The FARMER dinner will begin with an hour-long reception at 6 p.m.

As deputy secretary, Rominger helps supervise the activities of the U.S. Department of Agriculture,

Staff Writer Honored For Series

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Andy Andrews, staff writer for Lancaster Farming, won an honorable mention in the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association's annual journalism contest.

A five-year member of the Lancaster Farming staff, Andrews wrote a two-part series on the challenges of sinkhole maintenance, published in the newspaper on November 26 and December 3 of last year. The series recounted farmers' experience in dealing with sinkholes, including information on sinkhole repair and a special project to fund for sinkhole repair and education.

The award will be presented on May 20 at the annual Pennsylvania Press Conference Keystone Press Awards Banquet at the Harrisburg Marriott. Andrews competed in a category which included 36 other larger circulation weekly newspapers.

Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association honored members with plaques to show appreciation. Left to right are Glenn Eberly, Top Hand Award for membership; Bill McCoy, Industry Service Award; John Myers of Dunkard Valley Farm, Seedstock Breeder Award; Orlando Marzo and Mark Seeley, Commercial Breeder Award; and Lowell Wilson, secretary of the association. DELMARVA BROILER/FRYER MARKET. FEDERAL-STATE

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was seasonally slower, but was sufficient to keep the bulk of offerings in fairly good balance. Live supplies were moderate; weights varied and were mostly desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were very heavy. Most plants planned to close or reduce operations either Friday or Monday in observance of the holiday. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 50 to 61 cents. In the parts complex, wings continued to clear well. Bone-in breasts were irregularly available. Boneless skinless breasts and leg quarters were available and difficult to clear.

National Grain Market

St. Joseph, MO
Wednesday April 12, 1995

USDA-Market News Service
Daily National Grain Summary

Grain and bean prices back off after Tuesday's sharp jump due to milder weather overnight in wheat areas and technical corrections. Wheat mostly 3 to 6 cents lower except Portland 2 cents higher. Corn 1 to 3 cents lower. Sorghum 1 to 3 cents lower. Soybeans 1 to 5 cents lower. Yesterday's higher wheat prices, due to probable freeze damage in winter wheat areas, were weakened. Traders were cautious today and corrections were made in anticipation of damage assessments. Weather conditions were not reported as severe last night, leading some traders to believe no further damage was done. Very slow export demand this week also pressured wheat prices. Corn and bean prices followed wheat prices downward. Ideas that recent rains in Midwest areas will alleviated dry soil conditions also weighed on corn and bean prices. A slight pick up in export demand for both corn and beans, limited price declines.

Export demand: Purchaser Commodity Tonnage Delivery date South Korea Corn 50,000 June/July South Korea Soybeans 20,000 April/May

Totals: Corn 50,000 tonnes; Soybeans 20,000 tonnes.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

APRIL 17-23, 1995

EGG SALAD WEEK.

UMBRELLAS: A BRIEF HISTORY

Umbrellas were first used in ancient Mesopotamia as sunshades and were later adopted by women in ancient Greece and Rome. In the first century A.D., Roman women began oiling their paper sunshades to provide rain protection, and the umbrella as we know it was born. But it was not until the eighteenth century that umbrellas became acceptable for men. Beginning in 1750, Jonas Hanway always carried an umbrella around London, rain or shine. This was seen as effeminate, and he was publicly humiliated and ridiculed, but gradually the stigma faded and the idea took hold. When Hanway died in 1786, all proper British gentlemen were carrying umbrellas.

Let it rain in April and May for me,
And all the rest of the year for thee.

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ Clean dirty, streaking windshield wipers by scrubbing with baking soda and water.

SALMON STUFFED EGGS

8 hard-boiled eggs
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon vinegar
4 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 ounces smoked salmon, chopped
salt and pepper to taste
paprika for garnish

Slice eggs in half lengthwise. Remove yolks into a bowl and mash with a fork. Mix dry mustard and vinegar to form a paste, then add to yolks with mayonnaise, salt, and pepper. Stir in chopped salmon and gently mound into the egg whites. Sprinkle with paprika.

Makes 16 halves.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

A ring around the Sun or Moon,
Means that rain will come real soon.

When smoke rises but not too high,
Clouds won't grow and you'll keep dry.

Sunshiny shower
Lasts half an hour.

Special Offer. Handy chart full of interesting weather proverbs Send $3 to Weather Chart, Dept. UF, The Old Farmer's Almanac, Box 520, Dublin, NH 03444

OPINION

The Prophet's Easter Story

WHO hath believed our report? And to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?

For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: he hath no form nor comeliness; and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him.

He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief: and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed from not.

Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted.

But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed.

All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all.

He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth; he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth.

He was taken from prison and from judgment; and who shall declare his generation? For he was cut off out of the land of the living; for the transgression of my people was he stricken.

And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; because he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

Yet it pleased the Lord to bruise him; he hath put him to grief; when thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin, he shall see his seed, he shall prolong his days, and the pleasure of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied; by his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify many; for he shall bear their inquities.

Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoil with the strong; because he hath poured out his soul unto death; and he was numbered with the transgressors; and he bare the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors. Isaiah 53

Now Is The Time

To Read Pesticide Labels

The rules of pesticide spraying are changing. The pesticide label is required reading before any application is made.

Invest the extra time to read the pesticide label a second time. Never make any application that is not on the label. Also, wear and use all the protective clothing and equipment listed on the label.

The label is a legal document and must be followed. You cannot afford an accident. The fines, criminal penalties, and emotional stress could cost you your family and farm.

The information on the label has been tested and reviewed for your safety. Follow the label and do not improvise. The costs are too high!

To Keep Pesticide Records

Certified pesticide applicators must begin keeping pesticide application records in a new way. These records must be kept for all restricted use pesticides for two years after the application is made.

In addition, the information about applications must be recorded no later than 14 days following application. What must be included in the records are 1. the brand name or product name, 2. the EPA registration number, 3. the total amount of pesticide applied, 4. the size of the area treated, 5. the crop, commodity, stored product or site to which the application was made, 6. the location of the application, 7. the date of application, and 8. the person's name who made the application and person's certification number.

For more detailed information on pesticide record keeping requirements, contact your local congressional office and ask for USDA brochure "USDA Pesticide Record keeping Requirements for Certified Applicators of Federal Restricted Use Pesticides," dated February 1995.

To Feed Good Quality Forages

Good quality forages are essential for milk production and herd profits. To determine the quality of forages, we generally have them tested for nutrient content.

Most people associate quality with the forage's protein content; the higher the protein, the higher the quality. This is not necessarily true. Other factors also determine forage quality.

In addition to providing nutrients to an animal's ration, forages also aid in maintaining normal rumen function. To accomplish this, forages must contain adequate amounts of effective fiber and be free of any toxic compounds that could interfere with digestion and jeopardize animal health.

Thus, the fiber content of forage is important — both acid detergent fiber (ADF) and neutral detergent fiber (NDF). As NDF levels increase, palatability and intake decrease. As ADF levels increase, digestibility decreases. Thus we do not want ADF and NDF values getting too high. Nor do we want them getting to low.

We need a certain level of effective fiber in the ration with enough particle length to stimulate cud chewing activity and to maintain a fibrous mat in the rumen. Levels of fiber we are looking for are around 30 percent ADF and 40 percent NDF. These levels will depend upon the rest of the ration, feeding practices, and the kinds and nature of forages involved. Another guideline is to have at least 20 percent of the forage particles be one inch or longer in size.

Background Scripture:
I Corinthians 14:1-33a
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 95:1-7

Paul's handling of the speaking in tongues controversy is an admirable approach by a man who was not always so gentle and diplomatic in dealing with others.

These people were dividing the church. Some of them were puffed up in pride and were judgmental of those who did not share their experiences. They were attempting to make tongues the normative experience for all Christians. Furthermore, their practice of glossalalia—the Greek term—was disrupting the worship of Christian communities.

He might have attacked the problem by writing a stiff letter to all churches and saying, "There will be no more speaking in tongues!" (John Wesley once took the frenzy out of a Methodist meeting by announcing that he would personally deal with anyone who couldn't control their ecstasy!)

PERSPECTIVE

But, Paul doesn't intend to throw the baby out with the bath water. Speaking in tongues is all right in worship so long as it is kept in perspective. What is that perspective? "He who speaks in a tongue edifies himself, but he who prophesies edifies the church" (14:4). The former speaks in a language that is unintelligible to other worshippers; the latter's words are able to be understood and therefore they help other worshippers grow in their spiritual experience. Paul concludes: "He who prophesies is greater than he who speaks in tongues, unless someone interprets, so that the church may be edified" (14:5b).

Just to make sure no one misunderstands, Paul adds:"...in church I would rather speak five words with my mind, in order to instruct others, than ten thousand words in a tongue" (14:19). The glaring difference between "five words" and "ten thousand" indicates just how little Paul values speaking in tongues in corporate worship.

This is not because for Paul the corporate life of the church is to "strive to excel in building up the church" (14:12). Perhaps some of the ecstatic Christians were competing—who could speak longest, the most frequently, and so on. If anyone wanted to excel, said Paul, let it be in edifying one another, in building up the church.

SHAMEFUL!

If you will note carefully the committee that devises these reading was careful to stop the scripture text at I Corinthians 14:33a. They didn't intend for us to go on to 33b. What would we miss by stopping there? "As in all the churches of the saints, the women should keep silence in the churches. For they are not permitted to speak, but should be subordinate...For it is shameful for a woman to speak in church" (14:34-36). So much for subtlety! So much for diplomacy!

Some scholars believe that, because these words are not in harmony with Paul's other pronouncements, they were not in his original letter, but were inserted by someone else. But whether these are his thoughts or someone else's, they are not authorative for us today. The subordination of women prevailed in Paul's day, but not in ours.

Besides, this would be contrary to the two great principles in this chapter: "Let all things be done for edification" and "...strive to excel in building up the church." Today, there can be no building up of the church if we violate another of Paul's teachings: "There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free, there is neither male nor female; for you are all one in Jesus Christ" (Galatians 3:28).

Editor:

April 22 marks 25 years of "Earth Day" and 1995 is also 50 years since the end of World War II. Back then America was a rich and powerful nation with its people working in manufacturing jobs and creating wealth.

Since then our government has chosen to give out almost unrestricted foreign aid and to impose restrictive environmental laws at home. The end result is that we are a debtor nation in a global economy with our global ecology.

If our society is really serious about the earth, we should be refusing to import goods from nations with less stringent environmental laws than ours. Instead our government has guaranteed most favored nation status to just about everybody and signed GATT and NAFTA Agreements not to restrict imports for "technical reasons."

It seems to me that at that pivotal point we've managed to completely give away the store!

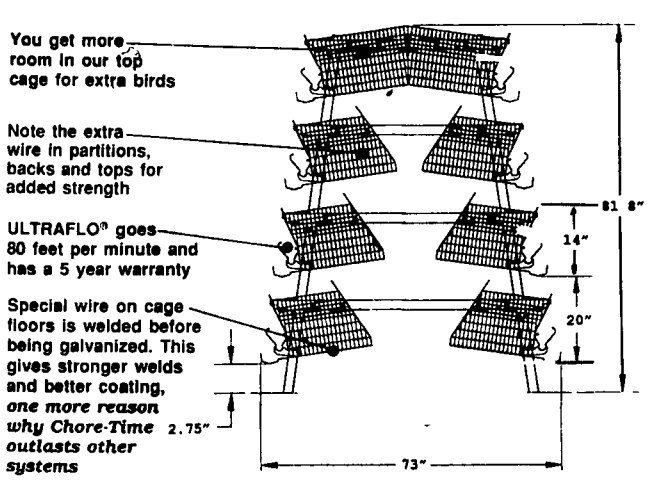
For remodeling or new construction

Gain capacity without sacrificing bird comfort or aisle width

Chore-Time Duratrim Cage Systems are designed to be perfect for remodeling!

DURATRIM-CB
Curtain Back



You get more room in our top cage for extra birds
Note the extra wire in partitions, backs and tops for added strength
ULTRAFLO® goes 80 feet per minute and has a 5 year warranty
Special wire on cage floors is welded before being galvanized. This gives stronger welds and better coating, one more reason why Chore-Time outlasts other systems

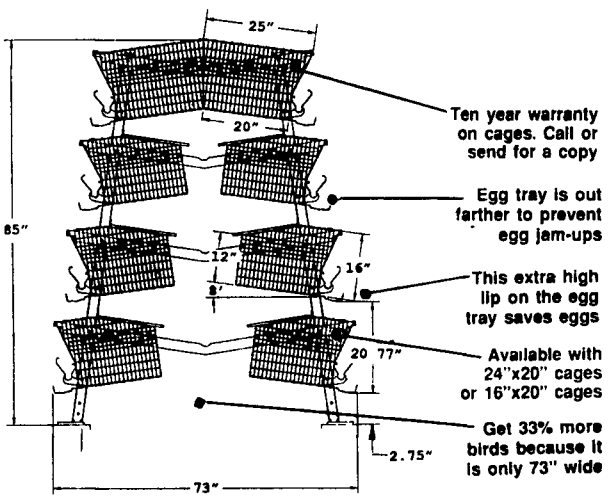
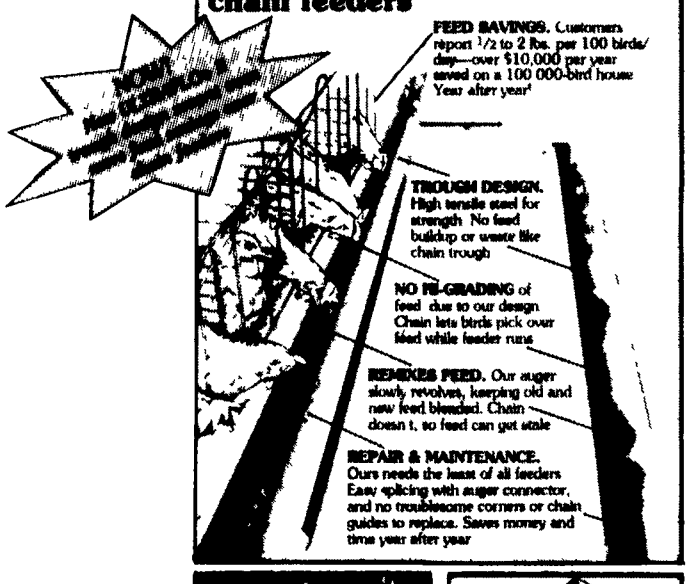
DURATRIM- DBS
Dropping Board and Scraper



Here are the facts why ULTRAFLO® outperforms chain feeders



FEED SAVINGS. Customers report 1/2 to 2 lbs. per 100 birds/day—over $10,000 per year saved on a 100 000-bird house Year after year!
TROUGH DESIGN. High tensile steel for strength No feed buildup or waste like chain trough
NO RE-GRADING of feed due to our design Chain lets birds pick over feed while feeder runs
REMIXES FEED. Our auger slowly revolves, keeping old and new feed blended. Chain doesn t, so feed can get stale
REPAIR & MAINTENANCE. Ours needs the least of all feeders Easy splicing with auger connector, and no troublesome corners or chain guides to replace. Saves money and time year after year

SIMPLE OPERATION. "Push-Pull" Power Units with low HP motor are located along the feeder line as needed.

EASY AUGER CONNECTOR. Allows fast and simple installation, also quick and easy repair of auger if ever necessary.

Remodel with Chore-Time and you can have more birds, better performance and less maintenance. Chore-Time's 4 tier, 20 inch deep Duratrims are the same width as 3 tier dropping board systems and 4 tier reverse cages. Go from 60,000 birds to 80,000 birds.

Over 80% of the nation's top egg producers* have already switched to Chore-Time cages with ULTRAFLO® Feeders!*

Egg producers have been putting up with obsolete chain feeders far too long. Now there's a better way Chore-Time's proven ULTRAFLO Cage Feeding System Since introduction, more than 80% of the top 54 egg producers* have gone to ULTRAFLO A lot of smaller ones have too.

They've all looked at the advantages and chosen ULTRAFLO. That's because it makes them more profitable Total egg production and egg size—these are the best benefits of our complete feeding system.

Why not check out the facts for yourself? Contact us now—or ask any producer who owns ULTRAFLO.

Because the only negative comments about our feeding system come from our competition—not from our customers.

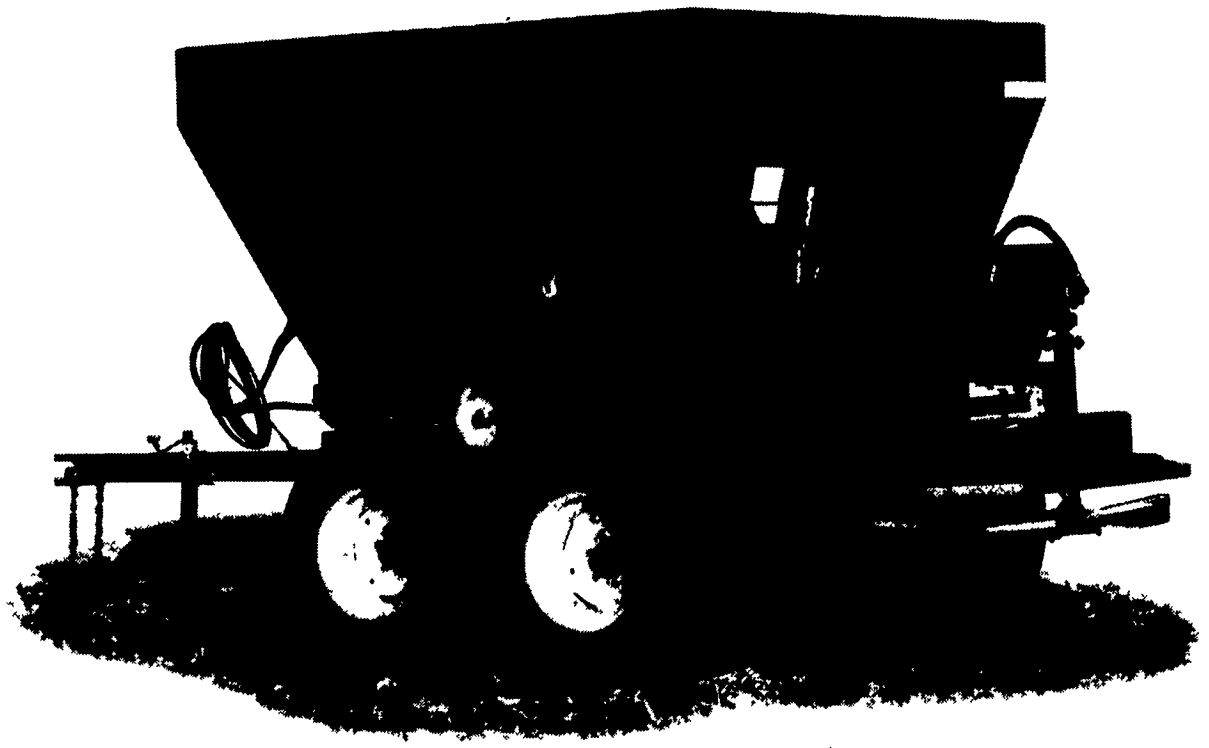
The One Spreader Rugged Enough For Lime, Precise Enough For Fertilizer.



You know how tough it is to spread wet lime. And fertilizer is too expensive to waste. Our new 56i spreader does both jobs with ease. Plus, it has no equal when it comes to spreading "sloppy" material.

Stoltzfus Spreaders have been known as unique, "top-of-the-line" ag spreaders since 1947.

Farmers are still using Stoltzfus Spreaders they've had 20 years or more. That means your investment in a versatile Stoltzfus Spreader will add up to a very smart buy indeed.

Call or write today for a free brochure and the name of the dealer nearest you.

Use Force soil insecticide and the early bird still will.

FORCE CONTROLS. In Developing FORCE soil insecticide, Zeneca Ag Products simulated and improved on the powerful chemistry found in chrysanthemum flowers. The result is the first pyrethroid insecticide designed for soil application.

Because of this unique chemistry, FORCE ranks low in mammalian toxicity, which means very low hazard to humans. In addition, the low water solubility and soil mobility of FORCE greatly reduces any risk of leaching or groundwater contamination.

CUTWORM APPLICATION RATES. Apply FORCE at 8 to 10 oz. per 1,000 linear row feet. The lbs./acre equivalent rates are:

6.5 lbs. per acre on 40" rows	7.7 lbs. per acre on 34" rows
6.9 lbs. per acre on 38" rows	8.2 lbs. per acre on 32" rows
7.3 lbs. per acre on 36" rows	8.7 lbs. per acre on 30" rows

FORCE may be applied in a T-band in front of the press wheels, in a band behind the press wheels, or in-furrow.

Numerous Awards Presented At Pa. Jersey Convention

Joy Vance Crowned 1995 Pa. Jersey Queen

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Bradford County Correspondent

WELLSBORO (Tioga County) — For the next year, Joy Vance will live the life of a queen — Pennsylvania Jersey Queen, that is.

She was crowned at the Pennsylvania Jersey Convention held at the Penn Wells Hotel last week.

Vance, the daughter of Alvin Vance, Jr. of Mt. Pleasant, Westmoreland County, is a senior at Southmoreland Senior High School. Her involvement with Jerseys began when she was very young. She now owns 25 Jerseys and has shown at the county, district, state, and national levels.

In her presentation, Vance said, "The Jersey breed means to me success, opportunity, and style."

She further explained that she has had success with her Jerseys in the show ring, opportunities to travel all over the country and to learn about farming firsthand, and that the Jersey style shows how special she is, "from the dish in her forehead to the smile on her face."

Joining Vance in her court are first alternate Roberta McConnell and second alternate Samantha Hillyard.

McConnell is the daughter of John and Lois McConnell of Volant, Lawrence County. She is a junior at Wilmington Area High School. As an eight-year 4-H member, McConnell has traveled with her eight Jerseys to local, district, state, and national shows.

McConnell's presentation focused on her involvement with Jerseys.

"I started on the farm feeding calves when I was very young," she said. "At 12 years old I began milking Jerseys."

Hillyard, daughter of Benjamin and Kathy Hillyard of Ulster, Bradford County, chose to use "Hillary the Holstein," a bovine who was considering painting herself brown, to get her point across. Her presentation focused on the history of the Jersey breed from their color to the latest milk records.

Hillyard is a senior at Athens Area High School and has been a 4-H member for 10 years. She is also a member of the Athens Area FFA and owns 11 Jerseys.

Judges Howard Stoltzfus, Arlene Wilbur, and Arlyn Wilbur conceded that their decision was "very, very difficult," and noted that each contestant was highly qualified.

Other junior awards presented included the achievement awards, the scrapbook awards, and the Jacob Brunges Memorial award for milk production.

Emily Norman was the junior recipient of the achievement award. Other finalists in the junior division were Joy McConnell and Julie Sollenberger. In the senior division, Pam McConnell captured the award. Others in contention were Judy Geissinger and Lynn Koinski.

Winners in the scrapbook contest were, junior Missy Wertz, and senior Janelle Koontz.

Ten winners were named in the Jacob M. Brunges Production contest. Topping the list was Ellen Norman's Normandell Brigadier Breanne with a 3-1 record of 17,319 pounds of milk, 846 pounds of fat, and 668 pounds of protein.

In second place was Emily Norman's Will-Do Boomer Sooner Editor, with a 3-10 record of 17,170 pounds of milk, 804 pounds of fat, and 642 pounds of protein.

Meadowbrook Magic Lucky Rose, owned by Missy Wertz took the third position. At 4-04, her record was 17,256 pounds of milk, 752 pounds of fat, and 657 pounds of protein.

In fourth through tenth place were Cathleen Norman, Tarik Gaffney, Pam McConnell, Mark Norman, Paul Blackwell, Joy McConnell and Roberta McConnell, respectively.

In addition to the junior awards, senior Jersey Association members had ample opportunity for recognition. Awards included numerous production awards, the Young Dairyman Award, the Norman Genetic Award, and the Distinguished Service Award.

The Young Dairyman Award went to John and Cindy Batchelder of Quarryville. The Batchelders are very active with Jerseys in all respects. John, a former national field representative for the Jersey Cattle Association, and his wife, Cindy have served as chair couple for the Pennsylvania Top of the Harvest Sale, have consigned top-selling animals to state and national sales, and exhibited the grand champion Jersey at the 1995 Pennsylvania Farm Show.

In addition, Cindy has been a state director of the cattle club for five years. Their herd is the fifth highest CPI herd in Pennsylvania.

Their DHIR mature equivalent lactation average on 43 lactations is 17,671 pounds of milk, 785 pounds of fat, and 639 pounds of protein.

The Norman Genetic Award is presented to the herd with the highest CPI in Pennsylvania. In addition, the herd must be at least 80 percent homebred, use at least 20 percent young sires, and be above the Pennsylvania herd average for

Carroll and Marie Doan proudly display their stained glass mirror after being named the winners of the Distinguished Service Award. The Doans milk 75 Jerseys on their farm in Knoxville, Tioga County. At right is David Norman, secretary of the Pennsylvania association.

Jerseys. Don and Angie Koontz, owners of Vantage Jerseys of Freedonia, took home the honors. The Koontz's average 21 pounds of protein on 136 animals. Their 117 CPI ranks them 14th nationally.

This year the Distinguished Service Award went to Carroll Doan of Knoxville. Carroll has been a long-time supporter of the Jersey breed. Although they have always had Jerseys, about 35 years ago when Carroll took over the farm, very few were registered. Today, due largely to the genetic recovery program, the family milks 74 registered Jerseys and has been active in many activities and programs. He and his wife, Marie, have five daughters.

Lester Daughter Tops 1995 Pennsylvania Spring Jersey Sale

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Bradford County Correspondent

LIBERTY (Tioga County) — Despite a couple of inches of slushy snow and bone-chilling temperatures, nearly 200 people turned out for the Pennsylvania Spring Jersey Sale and Pot-of-Gold Sale held at Normandell Farms last weekend.

A 2-year-old Highland Duncan Lester daughter consigned by Lester and Ruth Martin of Chambersburg topped the sale. Placing the $1,500 top bid were Jeff and Michele Reasner of Shippensburg.

The second high seller went to Richard Crawford of Port Royal for $1,450. The animal, Lawman Kupcake of Darlawn, was consigned by Paul and Rebecca Darling of Nicholson.

Normandell Kingsley Babe, consigned by Normandell Farms, was the third high seller. Bill Spencer of Granville Summit purchased the 4-year-old for $1,275.

The high calf was purchased by Amy Hixson of Scottsdale. She purchased Stoney Hollow Brook Micky, a September calf consigned by Don and Jill Stonerook of Martinsburg, for $1,000.

In the Pot-of-Gold Sale, Stoney Hollow Charlie Pansy, consigned by Don and Jill Stonerook, took the high position, as the August calf was purchased by Nikki Hart-Losch, of Mifflintown for $824.

A craft auction was also held with the proceeds to benefit the youth fund. Nearly $850 was raised through the sale of painted sweatshirts, a small painted lap desk, a cheesebox, ceramic cows, pillows and hats, among other items.

Although the weather forecast was for rain and 50-degree weather, Mother Nature proved that you can never quite predict the future.

"I think the weather affected the sale," said David Norman, secretary of the Pennsylvania Association and co-host of the sale. "I had a lot of potential buyers from Bradford County who didn't come over."

Overall, the cows averaged $952, calves averaged $400, and the Pot-of-Gold animals averaged $554.

Jeff and Michele Reasner of Shippensburg bought the sale-topper at the Pennsylvania Spring Sale and Pot-of-Gold sale. With the Lester daughter are Craig Sprout, at the halter, Michele Reasner, Jeff Reasner, Art Kling, and consignor Lester Martin.

Sheep And Wool Day Set

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.)—Mark your calendar for the annual Sheep and Wool Day event at Springton Manor Farm on Saturday, April 22, from 10 a.m.-3 p.m.

This free educational special event focuses on the role of sheep in the farming community with demonstrations of sheep shearing and animal care as well as sheep herding by working dogs.

Sheep shearing by Pete Brumer of Lancaster and working dog demonstrations by R.C. Gilbert of Wayne will be ongoing throughout the day. In all, 23 Dorsett sheep will be sheared while visitors get an up close look at the process, as well as an opportunity to "card" or clean some of the raw wool. Border collies and Australian shepherd dogs will be used in the herding demonstrations, where specially trained dogs guide a small flock of sheep through a course in the farm's pasture.

Draft horse teams will be at Springton to demonstrate plowing and planting using traditional farming techniques, led by Link Longstaff of Lancaster. Corn planted during Sheep and Wool Day will be harvested at the park's fall event, Family Day in late September.

SHEEP SHEARING NOTES

The 8th session of the Lancaster County Sheep and Wool Grower's Association's Sheep Shearing School was conducted recently at the Rod Nissley flock near Campbelltown.

There were 12 enthusiastic students who completed the training shearing 68 head of whiteface ewes. Since the Sheep Shearing school began, 141 shepherds have been trained in the art of sheep shearing in this Penn State Cooperative Extension program.

Since taking the shearing course there have been five individuals who have collectively sheared more than 7,500 sheep (2,500 in 1994). One of these individuals reported an income of more than $9,000.

The sheep shearing school was started in 1987 to address the need for more skilled shearers in southeast Pennsylvania. We now have a list of shearers available to small flock owners to complete this spring time chore. If you need a shearer, call (717) 394-6851.

Along with teaching shearing techniques at the school, students are also briefed in wool preparation. It is often suggested that wool offered for sale in the United States brings less money per pound than foreign wool, largely due to improper or insufficient preparation. In addition to the obvious practices of proper shearing, skirting, grading, and packaging, proper preparation also necessitates the inclusion of year-round management practices that minimize fleece contamination.

Fleece contamination either is acquired from the environment or occurs naturally. Natural contaminants are of less consequence than acquired contaminates such as vegetable matter.

It is inevitable that under pasture grazing conditions the fleece is very likely to pick up all sorts of vegetable material. This material can range from the many hooked burrs and seeds through the long awned grass seeds to leaves and other similar plant debris. The importance placed by the wool trade on these materials varies a great deal, but basically it depends on how difficult it is to remove the burrs and/or seeds, the potential processing ability of wool and the kind of fabric which is to be manufactured.

Ideally, it would be in the best interest of the sheep producer to eliminate from the pasture or range these grasses and weed species that cause a contamination problem. Since this practice would be impractical in many areas, a more realistic approach is to graze infested pastures before the seeds mature. Lastly, as most burr and seed contamination is found on the neck and lower parts of the fleece, skirting of the contaminated portion of the fleece is recommended.

Beef Quality Assurance

It is well known throughout the beef industry that consumers are demanding a safe, wholesome product from producers, packers, and retailers. At any level within the industry, there is an obligation from people involved to increase their awareness of food safety issues and to practice proper procedures related to beef quality assurance. For example, all cattle producers should know by now that there are proper locations for injecting animal health products into cattle to reduce lesions, blemishes, and scar tissue in valuable meat cuts.

At a recent Beef Quality Assurance training in Southeast Pennsylvania, a pre/post test procedure proved to be an excellent tool to evaluate knowledge gained and attitudes changed as a result of the workshop. Improvement in test scores on the post test ranged from 5 percent to 40 percent with the class showing a group improvement of 20 percent. Of greater significance were the results of three questions regarding proper injection and implanting sites. The class improved their knowledge of these important issues by a whopping 55 percent! My feeling is that this change alone made the QA training very worthwhile for the producers who attended and the cattle industry as well.

Livestock Ledger

Most producers were very knowledgeable, but what still concerns me is that this data also indicates that there are a significant number of beef producers within the industry that remain unaware that the proper and preferred site for giving IM or SubQ injections is in the triangular muscle mass area of the neck and not in the rump or top butt!

There are a host of other skills related to sanitation, cattle handling, proper drug usage, and a good veterinarian/client/patient relationship that also need to be presented to cattlemen across this country. We need more Quality Assurance programs for livestock producers and more participation from livestock producers.

Beef Industry Consolidation

After many months of intense and sometimes heated discussion, the beef industry appears to be heading toward a plan that will bring two of the industry's strongest organizations into one entity.

According to Beef Industry Council Chairman Ron Curtis, the move will place the Beef Industry Council of the National Livestock and Meat Board and the National Cattlemen's Association within the same organization. He says there's plenty to like about the new plan.

"The one thing that is really a strength is that is maintains the synergism that exists between the staff here in Chicago—the professional staff—the board of directors of the Beef Industry Council of the National Livestock and Meat Board and the state professional people—professional staff—and the directors that exist for the state beef industry councils. That to me is the real, real strength of our marketing program domestically."

Curtis, a beef producer from Hastings, Iowa, says there has been a big turnaround in attitude since some changes were made.

"The people who were negative toward this thing now are positive. We have an opportunity to now go ahead and develop it. If this new structure is developed in the spirit in which it was presented and accepted, then I think we have an opportunity to have a really strong beef organization."

According to Curtis, legal opinions about the structure presented at the end of February helped move the discussions forward. Transition teams are currently working to further develop the new organization.

Pork Producer Stress

Pork producers are a hardy group. They work long hours, and endure changeable weather and difficult market conditions. Most farmers and their families readily admit the existence of problems connected with farming but few will admit that these problems create stress.

Farm stress is inevitable, given the condition of farming today. What is not inevitable is the damage stress can do to the health and the emotions of farmers and their families.

For most farmers stress is not severe enough to cause serious health problems. But for a few, and that number is growing, stress is life threatening. Some farmers display symptoms such as habitual smoking, heavy drinking, irritability, insomnia, fatigue, and restlessness. Stress interferes with their ability to make good judgements, slows their reaction time, causes them to cut corners, and stress symptoms generally make life miserable and uncomfortable for those around the farmers.

Stress is that uncomfortable condition a person experiences when the body creates excess energy to protect itself. This condition is caused by hormones being released into the body and by increased blood pressure, heart and breathing rates, and changes in blood flow.

Not all stress is bad. If it weren't for stress none of us could operate. Stress is harmful when it's not controlled or managed.

A farmer can offset the harmful effects of stress by practicing the three R's of stress management: remove, response, and revamp.

Remove the attitudes and emotions that sometimes bog you down. Though you can never know yourself completely, the more self-aware you are, the better equipped you are to avoid stressful situations.

Respond by learning and using techniques to help reduce the harmful effects of excessive stress.

Revamp your life and your health, so that you have the physical and psychological strength to resist or easily combat the distress that stress can cause.

Stress is an important and necessary part of life. How we handle it is the question. If we don't deal with it or we deny it is a part of our life, then we may feel the ill-effects of it.

Solanco Young Farmers Hold Awards Banquet

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.)—Several farmers were recognized at the 16th Annual Solanco Young Farmers Awards Banquet held here at the Memorial United Church recently.

Recognized at the banquet as the Outstanding Young Farmer over 30 was Scott Kreider of Quarryville. Kreider is part of a family farm corporation that farms approximately 450 acres of cropland and milks 190 Holstein cows. Joseph DeLong, Quarryville, received the Outstanding Young Farmer under 30 award. DeLong farms in partnership with his father on Pillar Pride Farm.

Solanco Young Farmers recognized the following people at their banquet, from left, Scott Brinton, Active Member Award; Joseph DeLong, Outstanding Young Farmer under 30; Scott Kreider, Outstanding Young Farmer over 30; and William McCauley, Chapter Appreciation Award.

The Active Member Award was presented to Scott Brinton, Peach Bottom. Brinton has provided leadership to the chapter this past year as president of the Young Farmers. He is a life member of the Pennsylvania Young Farmers Association and participates in the chapter corn contest.

This year's chapter appreciation award was awarded to William McCauley, Atglen, for his support of the Young Farmers Program. McCauley, as the local Cargill Hybrid Seed representative, has worked closely with Solanco chapter members for several years by providing portable scales for use on a silage yield plot.

Five members received awards in the corn production and corn silage division. In the annual corn production contest, Martin Greenleaf, Jr., Oxford, produced 179 bushels of shelled corn per acre to win the grain division. Herbert Weaver, Kirkwood, was second with 177.9 bushels; Rick Brenneman, Quarryville, was third with 177.7 bushels; and Steve Aument, Quarryville, was fourth with 177.4 bushels per acre. Brenneman also received the award for the highest grain yield average for the past three years.

In the corn silage division, Weaver earned the champion trophy with a yield of 28.3 tons per acre of 65 percent moisture. Ed Zug, Peach Bottom, was second with 27.7 tons per acre; and Brenneman placed third with 25.5 tons per acre. Zug received the trophy for the highest silage yield average for the past three years.

In the dairy production awards, Dwayne Peifer, Kirkwood, received the top Holstein herd award with 22,629 pounds of milk. Peifer also had the most improved herd for milk and protein. R. Edwin Harnish, Christiana, had the high cow for milk production with 29,460 pounds of milk. Another cow owned by Harnish produced 938 pounds of protein to earn the high award for protein production in the Holstein breed.

Winners in the Solanco Young Farmers corn and corn silage contests are, from left, Rick Brenneman, Steve Aument, Ed Zug, Herbert Weaver, and Martin Greenleaf.

Robert Kirk, Peach Bottom, received the award for the top producing Guernsey herd with 15,223 pounds of milk. Kirk also received the award for the top producing Guernsey cow with 20,507 pounds of milk and 7 pounds of protein.

Local banquet sponsors donated various door prizes which were awarded to some lucky members in attendance.

Adams Bureau Meets

YORK SPRINGS (Adams Co.)—The annual spring meeting of the Adams County Farm Bureau was held recently at the York Springs Community Fire Hall.

"The purpose of the meeting was to familiarize the membership with special programs and business services offered to our members, such as the insurance and farm management," said Committee Chairperson Kevin Holtzinger.

Following opening ceremonies, Ed Wilkinson, president, introduced both guests and board members. Also included on the agenda was a summary of the benefits of being a member within the organization.

Comments were heard from the PFB Vice President Guy Donaldson; District IX State Director Richard Mains, and Regional Organizational Director Joe Buck.

Guest speaker Becky Gross from York County related her experiences with the young farmer and rancher trip to Europe.

WARNING!

An odorless, colorless, invisible--and costly-- forage thief!

You can't see it--and you can't stop it. Storage losses in forage can steal your valuable crop--how much is lost depends upon how you store your feed:

- Tower Silos have Up to 8% loss
- Bunkers have Up to 45% loss*

If the average difference in feed lost between tower silos and bunkers is 30%, then storage of 1000 tons will mean 300 tons MORE lost in a bunker. If silage is valued at $30 per ton, the additional losses from bunker storage would be $9000 a year.

For information on losses for all types of crop storage methods, contact the Crop Storage Institute for your free copy of " Methods of Crop Storage" and "Know the Facts."

My Ladys Manor Rules At Md. Holstein Show

LOIS SZYMANSKI
Maryland Correspondent

TIMONIUM, Md.—The Maryland State Spring Holstein Show was held at the Cow Palace here at the Maryland State Fairgrounds last Saturday. Judge Robert Fitzsimmons of Vermont evaluated 238 head of cattle, including 155 junior entries.

In the final analysis, it was the Smith family of My Ladys Manor Farm that reigned supreme at the show, winning grand champion in the junior show as well as the open show. For the Smith family, the success of the day was compounded when their grand champion also won best Maryland bred and owned, and My Ladys Manor Farm was awarded premier breeder and exhibitor of show.

The grand champion in the open division was Ladys Manor Astro Star, an aged cow sired by Bridon Astro Jet-ET and out of Ladys-Manor Charmstar Chance. She was exhibited by My Ladys Manor Farm.

"Ladys Manor Charmstar Chance was an 86 point cow with three excellent dams," said Harold Smith III.

Ladys Manor Astro Star has had no heifer calves, but has delivered four bull calves for the farm. She is due back again Sept. 5. According to Smith, "She has projected at five years of age to have 26,000 pounds, with 1,100 fat and 850 pounds protein."

Reserve grand champion in the open show went to Marlin Hoff's MD-Oakview Mark Kix, a 5-year-old cow sired by Walkway Chief Mark and out of MD-Oakview Enhancer Kate-ET. Hoff's 5-year-old cow was also the total performance winner with 29,800 pounds.

In the junior show, the award of grand champion was earned by exhibitor Harold Smith and My Ladys Manor Farm with Ladys-Manor Vanna Dee-ET, a 5-year-old cow sired by Bridon Astro Jet-ET and out of Ladys Manor Vanna Charmstar. "She has won five other grand champions," said the young Harold Smith of the champion cow.

"She has spoiled him!" the elder Harold Smith joked of his son's grand champion cow. She has also produced three calves for the farm, but none have been shown yet.

Reserve grand champion went to exhibitor Mark Iager and his 5-year-old cow, Unicorn Blackstar-Hannah-ET. In the junior show, best bred and owned went to Chip Savage and his 2-year-old cow, Savage-Leigh Tigercat Linda.

"It was a tremendous, high-quality show," said Judge Fitzsimmons, "as you would expect from Maryland. There's always a lot of quality cows in Maryland. It was a real tough show to do because there were so many good cows in each class!"

The 25th anniversary of this spring show did not go by without notice. The special celebration in order included free cheese (provided by Mid-America), free milk (provided by Md-Va Milk Co-op), crackers, and a giant anniversary cake. Visitors to the show were invited to join in the celebration and the snacks.

A huge display board created by Dr. Lee Majesky exhibited pictures of the champion cow for each of the spring shows over the last 25 years, and the front of the show catalogue listed show statistics for each annual show from 1971 to 1994. This information included the location, the judge, grand and reserve champions, junior and reserve champions (and their owners), premier breeder, and exhibitor.

PCA Honors Members At Banquet

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Keeping an eye on legislation that affects how we farm seems to be the recurring theme at many farm organization meetings and annual conventions.

The same rang true for the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association (PCA) when they scheduled Greg Ruehle as the featured speaker for the 21st Annual Cattlemen's Banquet and Membership Meeting held recently at Toftrees Resort.

Ruehle, director of the National Cattlmen's Association (NCA) in Washington, D.C., updated members about property rights protection, the Endangered Species Act, inspection reform and user fees, the 1995 Farm Bill, tax reform, Clean Water Act reform, welfare and food-assistance reform, the federal budget, foreign trade, and animal drug availability.

"The change in Congress has had a profound effect on issues important to members," Ruehle said. "When it comes to property rights protection, we are looking for more omnibus coverage."

The National Cattlemen's Association supports S605, which would require federal agencies to analyze the impact of taking land prior to action. It would also outline compensation should property value be reduced by regulations and would provide alternatives to litigation when dealing with property-rights violations.

Ruehle illustrated how the Endangered Species Act (ESA) effects not only property owners but also the surrounding communities. NCA supports reform of the current species and habitat lists, and wants recognition of the importance of private property rights and resulting ESA impact.

NCA recognizes the need to update the outdated Meat Inspection Act of 1907 and the Poultry Product Inspection Act to reduce inequities in the system. Ruehle also said NCA opposes user fees for inspection.

As for the 1995 Farm Bill, NCA supports a market-oriented farm bill and opposes disproportionate cuts in agricultural budgets for programs such as research, animal health, meat inspection, and market promotion.

"Cattle production is a generational activity," Ruehle said concerning tax reform. "The way it is taxed now, it's almost impossible to pass on a self-sustaining, viable farm operation." NCA is working toward reduction of capital gains taxes and estate taxes, and toward 100 percent deductibility of health insurance premiums for the self-employed.

As for Clean Water Act Reform, Ruehle said there has never been a legislative definition of wetlands. HR961, which NCA supports, provides for voluntary, nonpoint source programs with incentives, exemption of normal agricultural activities from Section 404 of the Wetlands provision, and private property rights protection.

Ruehle touched on the importance of keeping beef as the cornerstone in creating nutritious school lunches.

NCA supports the balanced budget amendment to the Constitution and presidential line-item veto authority.

As for foreign trade, Ruehle said beef stands to gain because of NAFTA. Ruehle said the U.S. is the lowest cost producer of the highest quality of beef and high quality beef is in demand in Japan and Korea.

Ruehle forecasts a glut of beef going into the summer months but praises the efforts of the Market Promotion Program from the USDA. It works along with beef checkoff dollars to help open foreign markets.

NCA supports legislation to speed the drug approval process.

"We want a safe product that is efficient for users, but the degree of testing increases the cost for users. We need a balance."

Ruehle talked about public image programs of the NCA, including the Environmental Stewardship Program.

"It is gaining acceptance with organizations such as the National Wildlife Federation, the Audubon Society, and the New York Times," Ruehle said. "Many of these programs are a result of the checkoff program funding these

Dr. Sy Card addressed the crowd, representing the Pennsylvania secretary of agriculture. He reported that two deputy positions in marketing and administration will soon be filled.

Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association (PCA) president Bob Hay presented the 1995 Top Hand Award to Glenn Eberly for recruiting the most members. Eberly is director of the Pennsylvania Meat Animal Evaluation Center.

Dr. Lowell Wilson presented the Commercial Breeder of the Year, Seedstock Breeder, and Industry Service awards.

Orlando Marzo and Mark Seeley stepped forward to accept the Commercial Breeders Award for their contributions to the beef industry and for their work at the Tioga Fairgrounds and to area youth.

Seedstock Breeder Award went to John Myers of the Jack Myers family of Dunkard Valley Farm, whose theme is, "We don't produce show cattle. We show the cattle we produce."

Industry Service Award went to Bill McCoy of Lancaster County for his more than 30 years in livestock management. McCoy is a charter member of the National Cattlemen's Association.

Sue Clair of LynLee Farms in State College introduced participants in the Cattlmen's Queen Program. The 1994 Cattlemen Queen Nichole Willwert presented her farewell speech as did outgoing Cattlement Princess Sherry Ishman. Both are seniors at Penn State.

Roxanne Kirst was then crowned 1995 Cattlemen Queen. Heather Sleeman, Anita Long, and Jennifer Dunleavy will assist as princesses. Jennifer Dunleavy received the 1995 PCA Junior Member scholarship.

Five new directors were elected to serve a 3-year term. William McCoy of Lancaster County, a charter member of the National Cattlemen's Association, has served as president of the Lancaster Stockyards since 1972. McCoy is vice president of the Pennsylvania Auction Markets Association, director of the American Stockyards Association, secretary and past treasurer of the Pennsylvania Beef Council, trustee of the Livestock Markets Association, president of Lancaster Livestock Exchange, and former director of the PCA.

Mylin Messick of Dauphin County has been breeding Simmentals for about 15 years. He earned supreme champion bull at the 1995 Pennsylvania Farm Show. Messick's bulls have tested well in the Penn State performance testing programs. He is an active member of the Pennsylvania Simmental Association and as director of the PCA. In 1990, Messick was named Seedstock Breeder of the Year.

John Myers of York County is manager and part owner of Dunkard Valley Farms. A graduate of Penn State and former Meats Judging Team member, Myers sells and shows cattle across the country. He is vice president of the Colonial Charolais Association, junior adviser for the Pennsylvania Charolais Association, and coach of the York County 4-H Meats Judging Team.

Paul Slayton manages more than 50 Polled Hereford and Angus cows on his 260-acre farm in Bedford County. Raised in Illinois, Slayton was graduated from the University of Illinois and was a member of the 1970 Illinois Livestock Judging Team. After working for several beef farms and organizations, including the Ankony Angus Corporation, the American Polled Hereford Association, and the Polled Hereford World, Slayton moved to Pennsylvania in 1983 to manage the Falklands Farm in Schellsburg.

Darron Smith of Berks County formed the Diamond DL Cattle farm in 1993. It has grown to include 70 Angus, 20 Limousin, and 70 crossbred cattle. Smith serves as director for the Lehigh County Farm Bureau. His farm offers A.I. breeding service to area herds.

Pioneer Conducts Open House At New Holland Research Station

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — About 65 guests of Pioneer Hi-Bred International Plant Breeding Division attended an open house Monday morning conducted at the new research station on New Holland Road south of New Holland.

Farmers and agri-industry representatives viewed the new station, situated on 60 acres that will test new Pioneer corn hybrids.

The station, which houses a corn pathology laboratory, seed handling room, a conference room, and storage facilities, measures more than 10,000 square feet. The facility was purchased in September 1992. Construction, at a cost of $550,000, began in August 1994 and was complete in December 1994.

"We first started doing research in Lancaster county back in 1938," said Terry Williams, research project manager, to the guests after a breakfast held at the station. "Pioneer has been in Lancaster County breeding corn and testing corn hybrids since that time."

Williams said that the station is one of 33 corn breeding stations in North America. The New Holland research station will do traditional plant breeding on whole-plant basis and will also be conducting extensive silage research.

"We do a lot of silage research at this location," said Dave Whitaker, assistant project manager at the station. "Here in the East, 30-40 percent of the corn is used for corn silage."

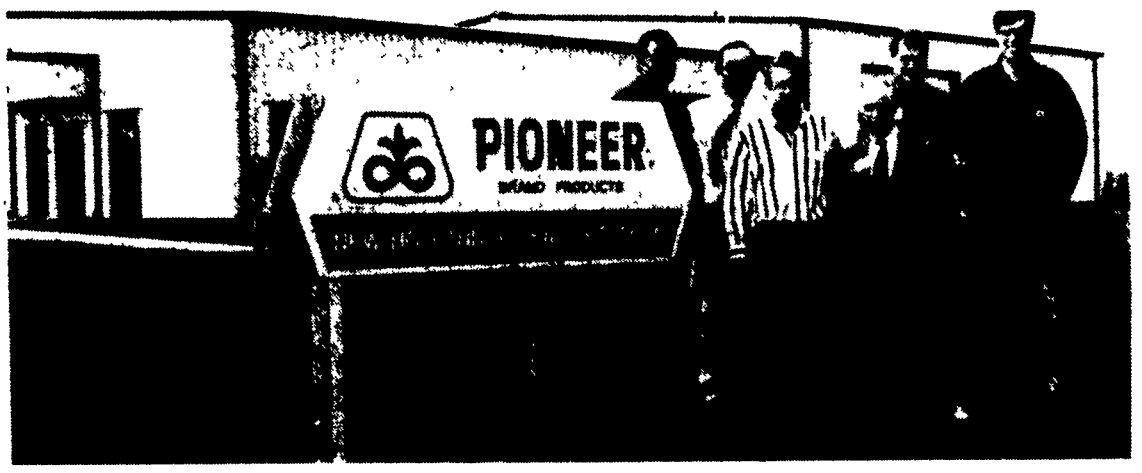
Whitaker said, "We are trying to characterize our hybrids for silage digestibility, to determine which ones are the best and the most digestible."

The station will also research the development of a hybrid corn that will resist ear mold.

Whitaker said that work will be undertaken to "try to find out why the molds produce toxins." Whitaker said a plant pathologist will be working on developing those types of hybrids that resist ear molds and possibly eliminate the toxins that the molds produce.

At the station, racks of corn seed are carefully maintained by test, site, row location, and hybrid type. Computer records carefully track the seed placement, germination, standability, and harvest record.

The station makes use of standard corn planting and harvesting equipment with extensive modifications. The four-row planter is modified so the seed hoppers can accurately distribute individual test packets of 25 seeds each. Seeds are planted in 17½ foot rows. At harvest, a combine is specially modified to harvest individual test rows and harvest records on individual rows are computerized.



About 65 guests of Pioneer Hi-Bred International viewed the new station, which will test new Pioneer seed hybrids. Pictured from left, Dick Gosselink, building projects manager; Terry Williams, research project manager; Dave Whitaker, assistant project manager; Jean Linn, director of real estate for Pioneer; Kelly Bechtel, research associate; and Dale Slaughter, research associate.

At the station, about 20 acres are under test. In all, the station will collect data on about 30,000 plots of various hybrids throughout the region.

At the breakfast, Jean Linn, director of real estate programs for Pioneer, thanked all those who contributed to the founding and construction of the research station.

Williams said that someday Pioneer, which is recognized by many farmers as a seed company, will be known as "Pioneer — The Biology Company," known for its work at the plant's cellular level.

"There are some really exciting things happening with biotechnology, and Pioneer is a part of it, and we intend to be doing some of that work at this location," he said.

The next open house is scheduled on August 29-30 at the station. For more information, contact Terry Williams, (717) 354-6044.

Gov. Ridge Visits Pa. Department of Agriculture

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Gov. Tom Ridge visited the state Department of Agriculture building in Harrisburg Thursday to join Agriculture Secretary Charles Brosius in meeting with a delegation from the Mexican state of Hidalgo interested in establishing trade with Pennsylvania.

The visit by Gov. Ridge also included an address to the department's personnel, held in the lobby of the building. He told the employees that he wanted to thank them for service to the 12 million citizens of the state and for the employees' "advocacy on behalf of Pennsylvania agriculture."

In fact, it was evident from those involved with the day's events that many employees, not necessarily those of the department, have been working outside the expected boundaries of their jobs to support efforts to increase interest in Pennsylvania's agricultural commodities.

O. Frank DeGarcia, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Board, was a key figure in bringing the delegation to Harrisburg. Last year he traveled to its capital city of Pachuca with Harrisburg Mayor Stephen Reed to establish better ties with the state, which has become a sister-state and sister-city to Harrisburg.

DeGarcia introduced the delegation before an audience of department officials, interested legislators, media representatives and several others in a conference room in the agriculture building.

Manuel Angel Nunez, secretary of commerce and economic development for Hidalgo, was the acting head of the delegation.

Nunez said that the reason for the delegation's visit to Harrisburg was to "establish a solid basis" for trade between the two states.

He said that, thanks to the North American Free Trade Agreement, commerce has increased "dramatically," and even though the economy of Mexico has been initially hurt and the peso devalued, those problems will be overcome.

He said the "policies are painful, but they are the right ones," adding that within a short time, "We will be on track."

He said that he and the others were impressed by last year's visit by Mayor Reed. "He impressed us because of the job that was done with Harrisburg."

Nunez also talked about the tremendous support received from DeGarcia and others from Pennsylvania, and that they are interested in buying 3,000 dairy cattle, as well as sheep and technology, among other Pennsylvania agricultural commodities.

Nunez also said that the delegation was interested in visiting facilities in Pennsylvania, which was included on the tour following the official introductions.

Nunez said he also talked with Mayor Reed about a 120,000-acre development in Hidalgo including a new airport. He said the two areas complement each other well.

The international port in Philadelphia was also mentioned because of the import/export activities taking place there now.

"It is our intention to buy more from Pennsylvania, and yes, it is also our intention to sell more to Pennsylvania," he said, in order "to create wealth" for both communities, and more jobs here and there.

He also said that the leadership of Pennsylvania and the personal initiative of its leaders is known to leaders of Hidalgo.

In his address, state Ag Secretary Brosius welcomed the delegation, speaking in Spanish, telling them that agriculture is the largest business in Pennsylvania, and that Pennsylvania has the largest agricultural community of any in the nation.

Brosius said, "As secretary, it is a priviledge to represent the rural community in the (Ridge) administration. It's an honor to be part of the administration, and a priviledge to serve with as fine a man as Gov. Ridge."

Ridge spoke next, saying that while Thursday was his first visit to the agriculture building, it will not be the last.

He said that he appreciated the work of Nunez and the rest of the delegation in laying groundwork better trade.

"With an eye toward the keystone state of Mexico, Hidalgo, Pennsylvania has had an extraordinary relationship. Trade has continued to grow."

The governor said that while serving as a member of the U.S. Congress he supported both the NAFTA agreement and the Uraguay Round of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT).

Further, Ridge said, "All of us share that, in our mutual best interest as neighbors, we need not set up defenses from each other," saying, in effect that it is best to develop a trusting relationship as a trading relationship is developed. He said that working from a defensive position wastes resources. He said that an enhanced trade relationship and partnerships is in the best interest of the people in both states.

Ridge also commented about the port of Philadelphia, and he said he was informed that currently Mexican products can be purchased there cheaper than in the port of San Francisco.

Ridge said, "We want to develop a better economic relationship, and look forward to exploring ways of doing that."

He said he would like to see "ships from Pennsylvania loaded full of cargo going to Mexico, and returning from Mexico full of cargo. Trade is a two-way street. We must work together to see that happens."

In discussing the need to do more to increase Pennsylvania's exporting capabilities, Ridge complimented Mayor Reed, saying that he is "an incredible leader, not only within Harrisburg, but within the region."

"We have not been as aggressive as we need to be," Ridge said about government helping to develop or support more export possibilities. "This (delegation visit) is a step in the direction to building a foundation."

The delegation presented Gov. Ridge with a present — a handmade comforter and pillows with a bird design similar to the Pennsylvania German Distelfink — while Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Walter Peechatka presented the delegation with a gift basket filled with Pennsylvania commodities.

After making his remarks to the delegation, Gov. Ridge and Secretary Brosius left the room to address the department employees in the building's lobby.

In the meantime, Holly Gerke, who works with the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, and speaks Spanish, gave a slide presentation to the delegation, outlining the functions of the agriculture deparment and its laboratoy systems.

Following the presentation, the delegation was taken on an all-day tour to a variety of Lebanon and Lancaster County businesses: Weaber Timber Mill, Pennfield Poultry Processing, R.W. Sauder Egg Processing, and Wenger's Feed Mill, before finishing with dinner at Groff's Family Restaurant.

Accompanying the delegation, in addition to agriculture department officials were state Sens. Noah Wenger, David Brightbill, and Roger Madigan.

On the sidewalk in front of the headquarters building to the state Department Agriculture, Gov. Tom Ridge is greeted by state Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brosius. It was Ridge's first visit to the agriculture department.

Gov. Tom Ridge displays a pillow and holds a comforter in his other hand. The gifts are handmade items from the Mexican state of Hidalgo.

State Gov. Tom Ridge and Agriculture Secretary Charles Brosius stand with members of a Mexican trade delegation. From the left is Manuel Angel Nunez, Hidalgo secretary of industry and commerce; Secretary Brosius; Rafael Arriaga Paz, constitutional municipal president of Pachuca, capital of Hidalgo; Gov. Ridge; Margarita Ramirez de Arriaga, wife of Paz; and Prof. Joel Guerrero Juarez, Hidalgo secretary of agriculture.

National DHIA Considers Rules Change

DAVID SLUSSER
General Manager
Pa.DHIA

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — The National DHIA Convention recently held in Burlington, Vermont was very informative and well organized.

The highlight of the convention was the passing of a resolution supporting the development of the Herd and Cow Profiles Program to replace the Official Rules System. Most of what used to be called rules were standard operating procedues effecting on-farm date collecting procedures.

These standard procedures are essential and will be continued to ensure the integrity of the national dairy database, which includes technician training, sample and data collection and milk meter calibration and operations.

Once development is finished, the Herd and Cow Profiles will replace the official rules.

This concept is a snapshot of information pertaining to how records are collected and developed.

The basic herd profile could be a minimum for participation in young sire sampling programs and breed association programs. In order for a herd to participate in these programs, they would have to agree to "open disclosure" of the information in the Herd and/or Cow Profile. The only exception would be "farm only" records.

The Herd Profile is designed to present herd performance and descriptive information. The profile would be uniform throughout the DHIA system.

The following are several identified users of DHIA information and how they might use the program.

1) Members not interested in marketing cattle or participating in industry programs. They could use the Herd Profile information just for management purposes and not want verifications of outlier information.

2) Non-marketing herds that would like to see their herd averages or cow information listed. Other producers could rely on the reputation of members, or could request additional verification for a fee.

3) Local committees or local DHIA may choose to publish verified records only, underwriting the cost of verification.

4) Herds actively marketing cattle may receive extra value from verified outlier cattle. They would pay for the cost of verification test and benefit from the market place.

5) AI and breed organizations may choose to verify specific animals, and develop guidelines covering the ordering and payment of verification test.

Research is still in progress on this new system.

The resolution passed at the convention indicated support for continued development of the Herd and Cow Profile Program. Implementation of the program will occur after research and development results are finished, and the results indicate intended purposes are met.

Westfalia Certifies Pa.DHIA Personnel

DAVID BIGELOW
Training Coordinator

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.)—Westfalia Systemat recently held a certification seminar on March 7-9, for 20 Pa. DHIA personnel.

The list of personnel who received the Westfalia certification included 10 technicians, region managers, training coordinator, director of field operations, and members of the processing staff, as well as the help desk.

Receiving the Westfalia training certification gives the participants of the seminar the education needed to provide advanced training to the technicians and members of Pa. DHIA.

The seminar involved three days of education on all aspects of the Westfalia Dairy Plan. The Westfalia Dairy Plan takes the input from the Quick Barnsheet program and creates a data base, which allows the technician to create basically any report the dairymen may request.

Representing Westfalia Systemat and teaching the seminar were Paul Bergstrom, programmer, and Bob Turner and Rob Kolb, sales representatives. This was a great opportunity, to be taught from a programmer's point-of-view as well as being taught from the sales representative's.

Basic data, such as adding a cow to the system, entering feed amounts and entering monthly milk data was covered in the beginning of the seminar.

Pa.DHIA personnel participate in a Westfalia systems certification seminar in order to help members get the information they need the way they need it.

The proper way to enter Vet Action Entries was covered next on the seminar agenda. Vet Action Entries include Cow Calving, Heat Observation, Insemination, Pregnancy check entries and a Vet Checklist.

The highlight of the seminar was the participants being taught how to design a quick report, as well as create graphs. In this process, it was made clear how to change report limits, sorting, columns and headings.

At Pa. DHIA, we feel that these reports can give our members another tool in the management of dairy records, in today's fast paced dairy industry.

Westfalia Dairy Plan reports are available on test day from your Pa. DHIA technician.

Ask your technician or region manager about Westfalia Dairy Plan Reports. Also, feel free to contact Dean Amick at 1-800-344-8378, if you have any questions.

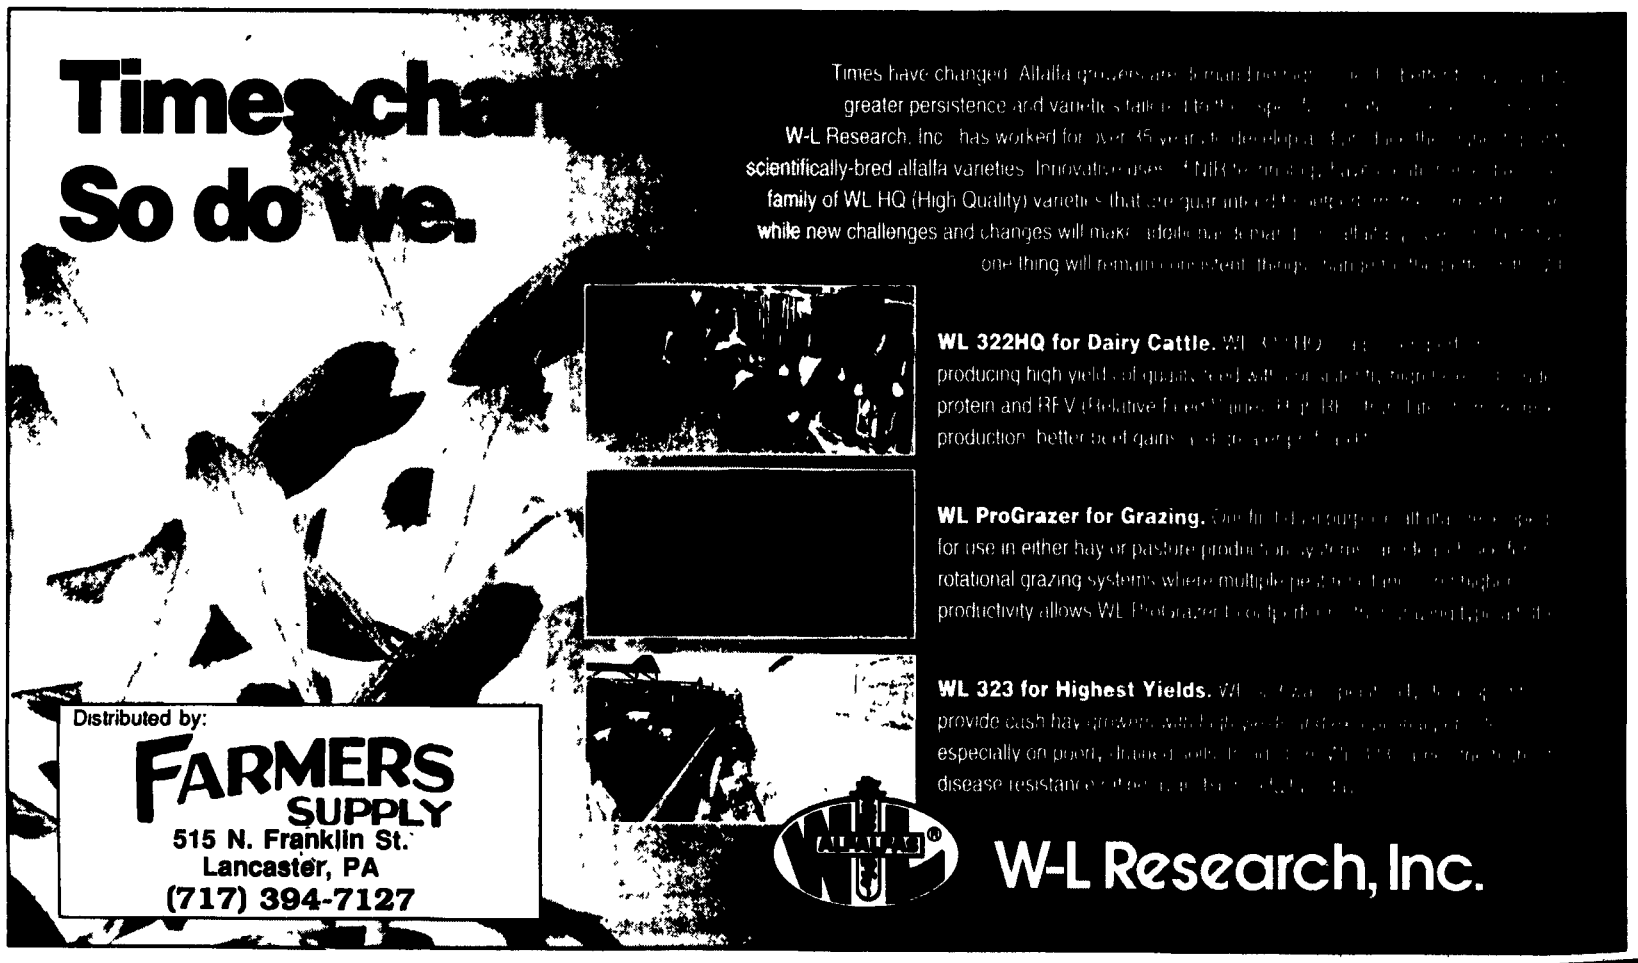
The Herd Profile may contain information on rolling herd average, average lactation curve, bulk tank comparisons, number of supervised and unsupervised tests, number of component samplings, PTA distribution, M.E. distributions, number of cows, ID changes in last year, percent usable records, percent cows completing lactation, and percentn average USDA weighting.

Possible and probable outlier cows will be identified on the PTA and M.E. distribution graphs.

These cows' exceptional production may be due to 1) high genetic merit 2) unintended environmental bias, 3) errors in data collection or 4) intentional bias. The method of resolving the reasons for the outlier cows will depend on the users of this information.



New Pennsylvania Ag Secretary At Farm Council

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

"With an organization like this, when you go to the legislators and the governor's staff with a common voice and say, 'This is what agriculture needs, wants, and why we need it,' then what you say starts to be heard," said Charles Brosius, new Pennsylvania ag secretary.

Brosius has been in office four weeks, and he was speaking to members of the Pennsylvania Council of Farm Organizations as they continued their annual meeting for consideration of resolutions and by-laws changes. The earlier Feb. 6 meeting was cut short to begin the annual Cornucopia, sponsored by the Council and held for legislators in the Capitol.

"If we speak with one voice or practically one voice, we can accomplish what we need to happen," Brosius said. "We farmers say we don't have much voice, but don't believe it. I don't believe it. Everyone who sits down to the table three times a day or carries a lunch bag is dependent on farmers. We need to be responsible to supply good, wholesome food to those people. And we take a lot of pride in doing that. But we need to blow our own horn once in a while.

"We have the safest food supply in the world, as well as the cheapest. Only 11 cents of the income dollar goes for food in our country. No other country, not even England at 25 to 26 cents, comes close. In poor countries, a man needs to work 10 hours per day to feed his family. We have a cheep food supply, but we can use that to our advantage if we look at it in a positive way," Borsius said.

Brosius introduced his new press secretary, Sally Bair, from Lancaster County. Ms. Bair has a broad range of communication and management skills that make her a logical choice to run PDA's press office and provide communication service from the department to farmers, agribusiness, and the general public.

Chris Herr, director of ag development under Secretary Boyd Wolff from the last adminstration, has been named the new legislative policy development director, and Walt Peechatka, who was acting secretary until Borsius was named, continues as a deputy secretary. Brosius had high praise for Peechatka's efforts in the operation of the department over the transition period.

Dennis Grumbine has been named Farm Show Director and has pledged to work to make the Farm Show Complex the showplace for Pennsylvania agriculture that it should be.

Brosius said bids have been opened for construction of a new $6.7 million animal health laboratory to be built adjacent to the department offices on Cameron Street in Harrisburg. And begining July 1, inspections of 18,000 eating and drinking establishemnts will be transferred from DER to PDA. The budget provides $1.24 million in personnel costs to support 24 inspectors and operating costs. In addition, Brosius said that in the Nutrient Management program, only the certification of inspectors falls in the work of PDA. But he is in communication with DER to help make this regulatory agency become more oriented toward education and farm friendliness.

The Council's new president, Laura England, Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, presided at the meeting.

GETTYSBURG (Adams Co.) — Foundation breeding stock, state-of-the-art reproduction technology, modern dairy facilities, and profitable subsidiary enterprises—Adams County Holstein breeders saw it all when they toured northern York and Lancaster Counties on April 4.

Some 45 members of dairy families made the trip, departing Gettysburg at 8:15 a.m

At Beshore Farms near New Cumberland in York County, Jed Beshore is a third generation owner-manager. The farm received the Dairy of Distinction Award in 1992 and has been a recipient of the Progressive Breeder and Progressive Genetics Awards. Jed's father, E. Wayne Beshore in 1994 was inducted into the Pennsylvania Holstein Hall of Fame.

The herd of 45 registered Holsteins has been the subject for embryo transfer work and special matings which has resulted in 15 bulls sold to the artificial insemination industry within the past five years.

In discussing his farm management practices, Beshore related how his farm had completed a 7-year/DER-approved contract for farm application of sewage sludge. This practice has practically eliminated the need for purchased fertilizers. Although permitting is an involved process, Beshore said he

Oertly Named State Conservationist

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)—Janet L. Oertly, an area conservationist from Indiana, has been named state conservationist for the Natural Conservation Service (NRCS) in Pennsylvania.

Oertly succeeds Richard N. Duncan, who retired in January after working for the agency for 32 years. He spent six of those years as state conservationist in Pennsylvania.

NRCS, formerly the Soil Conservation Service, was created last October when Congress passed legislation the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). In addition, several programs were transferred to NRCS, inluding the Wetlands Reserve Program and the Forest Stewardship Program.

As the new state conservationist, Oertly will oversee an agency in the midst of change. As head of NRCS, she is responsible for helping people to conserve all natural resources on private lands. NRCS in Pennsylvania employs about 200 people at the state office in Harrisburg, four regional offices, and about 70 field and special project offices.

Oertly, a Pennsylvania native, began her career in 1979 as a soil scientist in Faulkton, S.D. She worked as a soil scientist in various locations in South Dakota before her promotion to Area Soil Scientist for the Mason-Dixon target area in Maryland. She left Maryland to become a district conservationist in Indiana. While there, she was promoted to area conservationist, her current position.

Oertly received a bachelor's in geology from Thiel College, Greenville and a master's in agronomy from Penn State.

Adams County Holstein

is pleased to have been granted another contract.

At Elm Tran Inc., in Rheems, Dr. Boyd Henderson was assisted by Shirley Trimmer of East Berlin in demonstrating the harvesting of ova for use in invitro fertilization. One of six such reproductive laboratories in the country, the firm now exports embryos to destinations in Holland, England, Australia and Japan.

Kenneth Zurin of Kenburn Farms, Mount Joy, milks his herd of 285 Holsteins three times per day. This partially explains his rolling herd average of 24,117 pounds of milk, 757 pounds of protein.

Zurin is equipped to separate the solids from liquids in the manure. The solids are composted and sold to gardeners through a local plant food company. The farm also finishes 200 steers in the Tender-Lean program, keeps 250,000 laying hens, and operates a trucking business to broker cottonseed and shavings to other farmers.

Robert Rohrer and his four sons farm 640 acres just east of Washington Boro and near the Susquehanna River. Because of limits on the land application of manure, they have an agreement with a neighbor to apply manure on his 150-acre farm.

The Rohrers maintain 750 cows plus 575 head of youngstock and 1,400 head of hogs which are being finished for market. The 570-head freestall barn features a slatted floor with manure storage under the barn and a fully automatic Boumatic double-20 rapid exit milking parlor.

Poultry Federation Banquet Wednesday

at 5:30 p.m. with the dinner at 7 p.m.

Entertainment is always top billing at the fund raising event. New this year is a large broadcast screen in the main entertainment area, providing easy viewing for those who attend.

Back by popular demand is Jay Johnson, one of the world's great ventriloquists, who creates the "illusion" of life with Granpa Geezer (a homespun redneck), Gonzales (a talking guitar), Amigo (the South American boa-constrictor), Nethemore (a vulture), Log Chainey (a psychopathic wooden killer), and of course, the monkey, too.

The musical group, New Odyssey, will also feature a medley of hits, including songs from The Blues Brothers, classic country, Pop The William Tell Overture Gospel, Glenn Miller, the Beach Boys, Satchmo, Tommy Dorsey, and others.

Tickets are $125, and reserved tables of 10 and 12 are available. For ticket information, contact the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation, 500 N. Progress Avenue, Harrisburg, PA 17109, (717) 652-7530.

Despite a bleak economy for the egg producers, according to Hoffman, support is strong from the industry for many of the support programs maintained by the Federation. The Federation, which sponsors education and commodity quality programs, also sponsors five $1,000 Penn State scholarships each year, and funds travel and other expenses for four 4-H'ers to travel to national poultry competition each year.

In addition, the Federation also is involved in legislative functions and provides many health and other insurance programs for the egg and poultry industries.

The Pennsylvania Poultry Federation is a nonprofit, 501(c)(5) organization serving the Pennsylvania poultry industry and its suppliers through education, promotion, governmental relations, research, scholarships, and disease control.

For federal income tax purposes, ticket purchases are deductible as a business expense but not as a charitable contribution.

Penn State Dairy Club To Hold 70th Expo

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.)—The 70th Penn State Dairy Science Club Dairy Exposition will be held April 22 at the Ag Arena beginning at 8:30 a.m. with cattle fitting and showing competition among club members and other interested Penn State students.

A champion fitter and showman will be named in each of the three divisions—amateur, intermediate, and professional—from which a grand champion and reserve grand champion for the show will be named.

This year's Exposition chairperson is Donald Martin from Chambersburg, and the assistant chairperson is Donald Harwood from Shippensburg. The show chairpersons for this year's Exposition are Adam Tanis from Centre Hall, Jen Trout from Forest Hills, Md., Bryan Herring from Farmington, and Scott Longenbach from Northhampton.

In addition to the showing and fitting competition, there are several special events planned for guests and students. There will be the annual milking contest, calf dressing, dizzy bat, and milk chugging contest.

Also, all alumni are invited to participate in a special showmanship contest. The chairpersons for the special events, which should start around noon, are Kara Tussey from Huntingdon and Amy Packard from Troy. For more information, call (814) 865-7638.

There's something extra in a starter fertilizer program.

Starter fertilizers unlock benefits for corn farmers. They stimulate seedling growth, hasten crop maturity, improve crop tolerance to some insects, increase crop competition with weeds and frequently increase yields, particularly in production fields featuring conservation tillage and irrigation. Starter fertilizers make crop production more environmentally sound because they improve fertilizer uptake efficiency.

The agronomic benefits of starter fertilizers increase crop productivity and profits from corn production.

Delmarva Event For Small Flock, Gamebird Owners

COLLEGE PARK, Md.—A Saturday seminar for owners of small poultry flocks and gamebirds throughout the Delmarva area is scheduled April 22 in the main building at the Caroline County 4-H and Youth Park near Williston, located along Highway 16 about five miles southeast of Denton.

The program will run from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. It is being sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Delaware along with the Maryland Department of Agriculture.

The seminar is part of an overall campaign to better educate all segments of the poultry industry about effective prevention of avian diseases through proper biosecurity and management practices.

A $10 registration fee includes lunch, a management manual, and a certificate of participation. FFA and 4-H youth may register for $5. Advance registration is desirable in order to insure an accurate lunch count.

Programs and registration forms are available at feed stores and from county offices of the Cooperative Extension Service in Maryland and Delaware, as well as on Virginia's Eastern Shore.

For more information, contact Robert L. Tjaden, Jr., Wye Research and Education Center, P.O. Box 169, Queenstown, MD 21658, (410) 827-8056.

Ag Students Prepare For Celebration

COLLEGE PARK, Md.— Every year, on the last Saturday in April, College of Agriculture students show that agriculture goes beyond farming and is a unique and growing part of the urban-oriented University of Maryland at College Park (UMCP).

The 70th anniversary of Agriculture Day at UMCP will take place on April 29, rain or shine, and will provide activities involving new dimensions of agriculture, as well as long-time favorites. The festive atmostphere will include a bug zoo, educational and computer displays, a 16-foot hydraulic flume, livestock fitting and showing, a petting zoo, food concessions, and live entertainment.

"Many people will be surprised by the way in which agriculture touches their lives," said Dr. Marla McIntosh, acting associate dean of the College of Agriculture. "Ag Day will involve many active learning displays, entertaining events, and demonstrations that allow people to discover what's new and exciting in agriculture."

Some of those active learning displays are the Heart Smart Nutrition computer demonstration, which includes a diet assessment; a plant disease clinic where people can bring sick plants to have them diagnosed; an aquaculture system; and a tour of the University's famous pilot processing plant to see ice cream made.

Student representatives from 12 clubs will be selling food, plants, T-shirts, and goldfish. The UM Calvary will raffle a riding lesson, sell golden horseshoes and calvary hats, and present a videotaped educational drill. The Institute of Applied Agriculture will have a putting green to show how fields of study like turf management affect recreation.

Most activities will take place in the livestock barns area and the Animal Science/AgEngineering Complex at the intersection of Regents Drive and Farm Drive. The event will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and parking and admission are free.

Ag Day is sponsored each year by the Agriculture Student Council at UMCP, with cooperation from student organizations in the College of Agriculture. The council chose "Agriculture—Dreams of Tomorrow, Growing Today" as the theme for this year's Ag Day.

"The theme really reflects where agriculture is headed," said Allison Miller, president of Agriculture Student Council. "The future of agriculture is exploring science and technology, and Ag Day is a way to learn about the industry while having something of interest for people of all ages."

Ag Day at Maryland has been an annual event since 1925. It is one of the oldest collegiate agriculture showcases in the nation.

Special Label For Cabbage, Peppers Approved

NORTHUMBERLAND (Northumberland Co.) — Dual and Dual BE, manufactured by Ciba Crop Protection, have both received a special local needs label for Pennsylvania for use on transplanted cabbage and bell peppers.

These registrations are sponsored by Ciba and the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association (PVGA). In order to use the herbicide on these crops, a grower must sign a waiver of liability and indemnification agreement and pay an annual fee of $50 if he or she is a PVGA member or $100 if a non-member.

The waiver of liability and indemnification agreement are required due to the potential for crop injury, the high values of the crops, and the low potential economic return to the manufacturer. Growers must obtain a copy of the label, sign the waiver of liability and indemnification agreement in presence of a notary public, and return it to PVGA along with the payment of the use fee for approval.

PVGA will then return the approved label to the grower. It is illegal to apply Dual to these two crops unless a signed and PVGA approved label is in the crop owner's possession at the time of application. It is actually necessary to sign a separate waiver of liability and indemnification agreement for each crop (cabbage and bell peppers) but only one use fee is required.

Growers interested in obtaining the Dual label should call PVGA at (717) 473-8468.

Solanco FFA Members Receive Red Rose Degree

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.)—Five Solanco FFA members were recently named recipients of the Red Rose Degree, the county degree which is awarded to qualified students during their third year in FFA.

Solanco High School students Andy Young, Joy Young, Jen Riley, Connie Stanley, and Andrea Kreider are all Red Rose Degree recipients. From here, these students are eligible to apply for the Keystone Farmer degree, the highest degree awarded by the state in FFA.

In addition to receiving the Red Rose Degree, Joy Young also received the Star Red Rose Production Award. Young submitted an application and was interviewed for this award, as well as judged on her project book. Young has been involved in rabbit production, beef finishing, dairy heifer, and lamb finishing.

THE GRASS IS GREEN!
by Lisa Holden, Assistant Professor Dairy & Animal Science and Tim Fritz, Montgomery Co. Agent

Spring has sprung, and it's time (or past time) to start grazing.

Since forage management and feeding management are tightly linked, this article will focus on both plants and animals.

Spring is often the most challenging time for grazing management. To quote a New Zealand phrase, "the difference between an above-average farmer and an average farmer is about two weeks." So, as we begin this grazing season, let's take a walk down that lane with the animals and think about a few things.

• The Pasture: Cool season grasses and clover are either already actively growing or are on the starting blocks ready to kick in gear. Early spring management should focus on attempting to "stage in paddocks." The heavier you rely on pasture as your forage system, the earlier you should start.

Some graziers start shortly after green up. If you are not started by 3 inches growth, you will most likely get way behind the grass. Start on southern slopes, early species paddocks such as ryegrass, bluegrass, and orchardgrass, and possibly wet areas (if "dry" at time of grazing). These areas usually start growing first. If your farm is relatively uniform, then spring management and getting cows out early is even more important because the whole system starts growing at once. (Fall management also influences time of green up and can be used as a tool to bring the pasture in different stages.)

When weather conditions are right soon after green up, an explosion of grass occurs which is almost impossible to manage. Your cows should already be transitioned to a pasture ration at this point to maximize pasture intake during this rapid growth period. Don't be caught with your fences down! If and when the pasture gets ahead of you, keep the grass vegetative by moving the cows very fast and/or harvesting unneeded paddocks early. The earlier unneeded paddocks are harvested the earlier they can be returned to the pasture system. Production is reduced dramatically by allowing the grasses to go to head. (Exemption: Smooth Bromegrass and Timothy should not be grazed during stem elongation and should be harvested after flowering.)

Other factors to consider:

• Wet weather: If field conditions are wet, graze well drained paddocks with established sod if possible. Put the animals on only long enough to graze then pull them off to either a barn, concrete area or a "clean" sacrifice area. Do not destroy pasture under poor weather conditions unless this is your goal. Remember, your pasture will hopefully be producing high quality forages for the next 6 to 9 months.

• Nitrogen: In most cases avoid applying nitrogen during green up. If you use commercial nitrogen (most producers rely on legumes to provide nitrogen), apply after the main flush--usually in mid to late spring. If nitrogen is applied during green up, the flush will be even harder to manage.

The Animals: Fresh, new forage is highly palatable and animals will readily consume spring pasture. The key to transition feeding in the early spring season is observing and adjusting for changes in pasture growth. As with any feeding changes, more gradual adaptation to new feedstuffs will help the rumen microbes to positively adjust. Changes in pasture growth (and availability) can be observed visually in the paddocks as well as by changes in refusals at the bunk. Maintaining a high dry matter intake should always be your first goal, so keep enough high quality feed (TMR, stored forages, etc.) available especially when beginning to graze. Remember that cattle do not graze as closely to the ground as sheep, so what may look like an abundance of green growth to you may be unavailable to the cow. Adequate feed available in the barn also helps to minimize the risk of bloat, especially with legume pastures. Hungry cows on short pasture means sacrificing production, and hungry cows (not adapted to pasture) means a high risk of problems with bloat. So, it is not wise to turn out hungry cows in early spring.

As the animals' pasture dry matter intake increases, the amount of stored feed that is refused will increase somewhat proportionally. For every pound of dry matter refused from TMR or high quality forage, the cow is eating about a pound of dry matter from pasture or about 5-7 pounds of wet material. Spring pasture is about 15-20 percent dry matter and is generally higher in protein and energy and lower in fiber than most stored forages. Plan ahead by working with your nutritionist to decide how often your rations will need to be adjusted. It is best to avoid very frequent ration changes, as they can upset the rumen environment. However, a decline in milk production is easy to avoid by balancing a new ration ahead of time based on estimated changes in pasture intake, rather than making "off the cuff" feed changes.

Two other nutritional concerns with spring pasture are low fiber contents, which can lead to very low fat tests and an unhealthy rumen, and low magnesium content of spring grass pastures which can lead to grass tetany. Adequate forage particle length in the silages and/or feeding a few pounds of long hay can help provide the animals with adequate amounts of effective fiber in spring pasture rations. While fibrous concentrates may be beneficial as well, even fibrous concentrates lack the effective fiber that forages provide. Finally, although grass tetany seems to be a minor problem, cool growing temperatures coupled with certain soil fertility can mean that animals grazing all grass pastures are at risk for developing grass tetany. Supplementing adequate amounts of magnesium in the grain mix will prevent grass tetany. Pastures with mixtures of grass and legume are also helpful.

Spring can be a very challenging time, especially for new graziers. It takes some intensive management of both the plants and the animals to navigate the rough spots, reach your goals, and get a great start grazing those pastures!

Search For New Centre County Dairy Princess Begins

As the end of my reign as the Centre County Dairy Princess nears, the pursuit for a replacement begins. The experience of representing Centre County has been rewarding in many ways. The learning experience itself, has been worthwhile for my future because of all the public speaking practice I had. This has enabled me to become a better individual because I developed a higher confidence level in myself. The fears I had going into becoming a dairy princess, like speaking in front of people, have all but diminished over time.

In the future, I will look back at being a Dairy Princess as one of the most rewarding experiences I had while living in Centre County. The chance to represent an industry that I take pride in, has given me a whole new perspective on what we, as dairy farmers, must do in order to promote the dairy industry. Not only must we provide a wholesome product but we must also be able to meet the consumers' needs. These things were experienced firsthand while dealing with consumers while doing promotions. The experiences possible with becoming a dairy princess are endless.

In closing, anyone interested in experiencing the chance to represent Centre County can attend the princess tea on April 12, 1995 at my residence. Any inquiring minds can contact me, Rachel Tanis, at (814) 364-2123.

ADC: Excellent Six Months

GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

McVEYTOWN (Mifflin Co.) — Because of good customers, good credit, the increase in sales of raw milk, and an increase in suppliers, Atlantic Dairy Cooperative (ADC) has had an excellent first six months.

That was some of the good news given to almost 100 family members of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative's Lewistown Local by Evan L. Fineman, treasurer and chief financial officer of ADC, during their annual dinner meeting.

Held at the McVeytown Fire Hall, Fineman also said ADC's sale of fluid Class 1 milk has decreased form 44 percent to 42 percent but butterfat sales remain strong. Fineman said ADC is looking to expand by possibly building a cheese plant. They also want to network their personal computers and to add an online system to enable farmers with computers quicker access to testing and milk quality results.

ADC's $26.5 million in equity includes the Holly Milk Plant, the Quality Control Lab, and the main offices. Fineman said half of the Quality Control Lab's testing is environmental, and that part is costing the cooperative money. Fineman said ADC is thinking of getting out of the environmental testing buseiness.

ADC Field Representative Martin Smith thanked dairy farm families for their memberships. Smith reported that, according to PI counts and SCC counts, quality has increased. Members can earn $.10-$.20 extra if these counts are within certain levels.

Smith said Lewistown Local has 60 members and that pounds of milk are increasing. He announced a $.15 up-front bonus for the first four months for new sign-ups.

National Dairy board member David N. Noss of Port Royal awarded David Mitchell of Drv Valley, Lewistown, with a 25 Year Award. He said that 25 years ago, producers like Mitchell were paid $6.57 per hundredweight compared to last year's base price of $13.49; ADC had 31,000 members compared to the present 39,000 members; and ADC handled 1.4 billion pounds of milk compared to 3.5 billion pounds today.

Young Cooperators Joe and Beth Laughlin of Ferguson Valley, Lewistown, represented District 18 at the two-day Young Cooperator contest held last year at Willow Valley Resort, Lancaster. They placed second, enabling them to represent ADC at the National Milk Producers Federation annual meeting in Dallas.

Beth Laughlin reported on some changes in this year's Young Cooperator contest. The contestant eligibility age has been raised to age 40, and districts may send more than one contestant. Laughlin encouraged single persons to enter the contest as well as couples.

Delegate Amos Musser reported on his visit to the 77th annual meeting held in December.

Mifflin County Dairy Princess Erin Goss, alternates Crystal King and Cindy Yoder, and Dairy Maid Megan Goss distributed materials needed to "shake your own pudding," an activity they often present in the schools to third graders.

David and Connie Mitchell of Dry Valley, Lewistown, accepted their 25-Year Award from Atlantic Dairy Cooperative. Mitchell joined ADC when milk was $6.57 per hundredweight.

Llama, Alpaca Festival Set

VERNON, Conn.—They have quietly and peacefully been making their way onto both commercial and hobby farms across the country, building a loyal, ever-growing following among those who appreciate their versatility, gentleness, beauty, and intelligence.

What animals could these be? They are llamas and alpacas, the South American relatives of the camel, that have been domesticated for centuries as wool producers and pack animals.

No longer thought of as an exotic fad for celebrities, llamas and alpacas are domestic livestock that have initiated many people into farming and helped to diversify established working farms. In this country, they are used for a wide variety of purposes. Their luxurious wool is warm, soft, and grease-free (contains virtually no lanolin) and is considered a fine fiber. They are used as guardians for sheep and goats because of a natural wariness of coyotes and stray dogs. They are used as pack animals, and when mature, can carry up to 25 percent of their adult body weight (an adult llama will usually weigh between 250 and 400 pounds). They are not considered riding animals, but can be trained to pull carts— nursing homes and schools are often visited by llamas both for educational and therapeutic reasons. (They have very little odor, and remain calm, cool, and collected even if they have to go inside a building for the visit. This enables many people the chance to enjoy them, even if they can't visit a farm).

Last, but not least, another reason for owning llamas and alpacas is simply to enjoy their company, their beauty, and their serenity.

Where can you find out more about llamas and alpacas? Come to the Tolland Agricultural Center, Rte. 30, Vernon, Conn., on Saturday, April 22 and Sunday, April 23, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. There will be llamas and alpacas there from 35 farms, representing most of the Northeast states. Demonstrations will be ongoing throughout the weekend, highlighting the many uses of these versatile animals, and some of the participating farms will have llamas and/or alpacas for sale, as well as related products.

This event will be held indoors, rain or shine, and both parking and admission are free.

For more information, call Harmony Acres, (203) 644-1136 or Hindsight Farm, (203) 774-7623.

ADADC Re-elects Johnson

SYRACUSE, N.Y.—Raymond Johnson was re-elected President of the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC) after the 35th annual meeting, held late February, at the Sheraton Inn in Liverpool, New York.

Johnson, a dairy farmer from Schaghticoke, New York, starts his 13th year as president of ADADC's board.

In partnership with his son Edward, Johnson operates a 530-acre Holstein dairy farm.

Other officers elected were Walter Kingston of Geneseo, New York, vice president; Paul Kirsch of Varysburg, New York, second vice president; Kenneth Dumont of Chateaugay, New York, treasurer; and David Hardie of Lansing, New York, secretary.

Elected to the executive committee were Warren Beardsley, Fairport, N.Y.; Donald Bergey, Millville, Pa.; Jo Collins, Richfield Springs, N.Y.; Wesley Coots, Hornell, N.Y.; Warren Herklotz, Franklin, N.Y.; Robert Pardoe, Milton, Pa.; and Elaine Streeter, Adams, N.Y.

Dairy producers representing New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania met in February to elect officers and review the advertising and promotion programs implemented by ADADC during 1994.

Accomplishments of ADADC's retail nutrition education and publicity divisions of 1994 were highlighted through a video presentation, showing producers the value in generic advertising and promotion.

In his president's report, Ray Johnson spoke about both the national and local dairy promotion organization's commitment to deliver efficient programming.

At the national level, he cited the merger between United Dairy Industry Association and the National Dairy Board as evidence of cost savings to dairy farmers.

Ag Gives Perspective On Life Says Gail McPherson

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

NEW PARK (York Co.) — Old McDonald used to feed three or four people; today's farmer growns enough food and fiber for 129 people," says Gail McPherson.

That was just one of the interesting facts about agriculture Gail McPherson told the fourth graders at Fawn Grove Elementary School, when she visited their classes recently during National Agriculture Week.

McPherson and her husband Paul own Maple Lawn Farms, in southeast York County. In addition to cropping several hundred acres of grain, Maple Lawn Farms is well-known for its extensive plantings of peaches, apples, and smaller fruits like blueberries. Along with wholesale and retail marketing, Maple Lawn has a loyal following of pick-your-own customers who come regularly in-season to harvest their own fruit fresh from the orchards.

Though not raised on a farm, Gail quickly became a partner with Paul in the business, with key responsibilities in their extensive recordkeeping systems and personnel management. But she also saw that agriculture was in need of caring, knowledgeable people to speak out in public relations efforts. Her background in education and communications, plus an enthusiastic and outgoing personality, gave Gail a unique combination of skills to become an ag-advocate volunteer.

One of Gail's early activities was a slide show she photographed and coordinated for the then York County Farmers' Association, now the Farm Bureau. "Seasons In The Sun" was shared with numerous non-farm audiences, part of a public ag-education outreach which later expanded to include an annual, free, farm tour.

In the mid-1970s, Gail was instrumental in helping to found American Agri-Women (AAW), and in October 1977, helped put together the state affiliate, Penn's Agri-Women (PAW). From the beginning, Agri-Women was established as a volunteer, public relations arm of the agriculture industry and a training effort for women involved in those leadership and spokesperson roles.

Gail credits the former Ethel Groff of Manchester, York County, affectionately remembered as the "mother" of Penn's Agri-Women, for her leadership role in helping organize the network. Agri-Women now includes thousands of members in state affiliates across the country.

"Ethel had a vision for agriculture that was way ahead of many people of her generation," Gail recalls fondly. "She also tried to work for Agri-Women within every other group that she was a part of."

"AAW is a sisterhood, a group of nationwide friends; that's been one of the highlights of my involvement in it," adds Gail. "Networking with women from all over the country, in every discipline of agriculture, we have learned so much about each other. We've been able to identify the things we can agree on and are able to present a united voice on those issues.

"And it's a total volunteer organization, so 'we are it'," she said with a smile. "Our members are recognized for their integrity, their credibility, their knowledge. They're believable.

"As women in agriculture, we're fighting for our homes, and our hearths, which people can relate to and identify with. That makes us especially effective as spokespersons. We always try to present a very positive image of agriculture."

Gail also sees the Agri-Women programs and networking as an ongoing higher education for those involved.

"It's battery-charging for me," she relates. "The speakers we hear are outstanding, often better than a college course. That's continuing education, with information that is applicable to our businesses and the environment in which we work."

Agri-Women, in addition to information sharing, networking, and lobbying on legislative issues, works with far-reaching programs that include National Ag Day and Ag In The Classroom. At the state level, Penn's Agri-Women hosts and organizes the popular Ag Day Buffet at the Capitol in Harrisburg, a luncheon for legislators, staffers and guests which features the wealth of Pennsylvania-produced foods.

For her involvement, Gail has received AAW's highest honor, the Leaven Award. Ethel Gross was also a former Leaven Award winner, along with Carol Ann Gregg, Grove City, former AAW national officer and current PAW secretary.

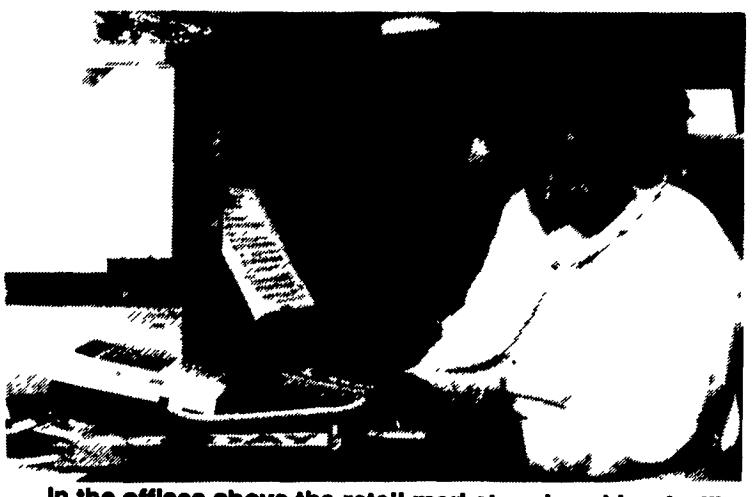
Gail McPherson, front, and Carol Ann Gregg arrange trays of food for the Ag Day buffet luncheon hosted by Penn's Agri-Women in the Capitol's East Wing Rotunda.

A few years ago, Gail was invited to participate in Foodwatch, a focus program of the Agriculture Council of America. The major thrust of Foodwatch is carrying to the public and the media the message that the American food supply is safe and that the products that keep it safe and plentiful must remain available for production use.

As a Foodwatch program participant, Gail is one of a few dozen farmer-laymen who have been trained in the most effective ways to speak out for food safety and respond to consumer concerns. In that capacity, she testified last year at a United States Department of Agriculture hearing in Philadelphia relating to food safety issues which should be addressed in the 1995 Farm Bill.

That media training has not only helped make her a more effective spokesperson, according to Gail, but it has also helped to "mellow" her response to attacks on agriculture, rather than reply heatedly to unfounded or unreasonable accusations.

Two decades of involvement in hands-on farming have also had a "mellowing" effect, Gail adds. "You learn to accept crops failing from droughts and hail damage and to believe that there will be some benefit in some way. Paul is and has always been a 'cool as a cucumber' kind of person about problems. And I've learned that I don't have to do everything; other people can get the job done."



In the offices above the retail market and packing facilities at Maple Lawn Farms, Gail McPherson spends much of her time keeping tabs on the family's fruit and grain businesses using phones and computers.

The record cold winter of 1994, which virtually destroyed the entire peach crop in the Middle Atlantic region, wiped out Maple Lawn's production along with that of other orchards. But Gail found a personal benefit in that she had none of the carpal tunnel syndrome pain in her hands and wrists from sorting peaches that had caused her considerable discomfort in other seasons.

Gail's responsibilities as corporate secretary of Maple Lawn Farms includes managing the office with its computerized recordkeeping systems, handling payroll, and helping manage the retail market. She also does the extensive advertising for the market and pick-your-own and publishes two issues annually of the MAPLE LAWN FARMS CONNECTION, the orchard newsletter for customers. One is mailed out just ahead of the peach and blueberry season, the other goes out to customers just before fall fruits are ready for harvest.

About five years ago, the McPhersons diversified with the land improvement business, purchasing a few pieces of heavy earthmoving equipment from a neighbor who was retiring. Maple Lawn Land Improvement specializes in constructing soil conservation and farm water management installations such as terraces, manure lagoons and farm ponds. They also work with home builders in earthmoving for footers, foundations, roads, and landscaping.

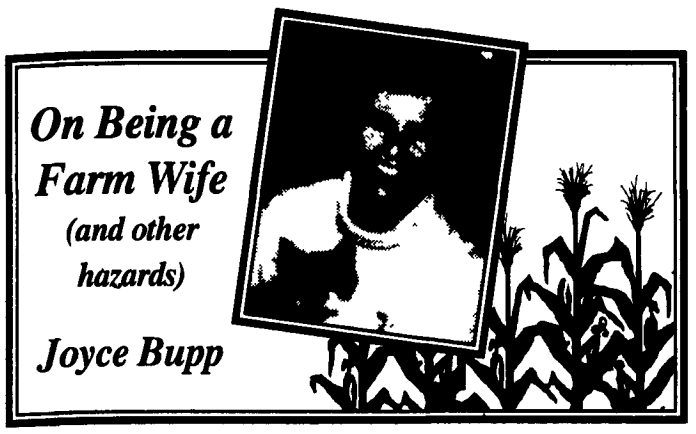
Gail and Paul have three children, all of whom have grown up personally involved in both the farm and the public-relations outreach efforts of this ag-advocacy-minded family.

"I no longer have to chauffeur, but I still have to go-fer," quips Gail of her changing role as a mother, wife, and farm business partner.

Gretchen is a senior majoring in fine arts at the Disney School of Arts in California and was only 10 miles from the epicenter of that state's most recent major earthquake. Hugh, a sophomore at Penn State, is studying agriculture business management and in the college's "blue band." Sarah is a junior at Kennard-Dale High School, a track runner and a horsewoman who hopes to work professionally with horses.

Maple Lawn Farms has also been part of the life of hundreds of other children whose families have come here to walk the orchards, enjoy fresh air and sunshine, and clumb into a tree to pluck off a sun-ripened peach or apple. After gaining a personal knowledge of agriculture by picking their own food, some of the three generations of customers may have come to appreciate and share a Gail McPherson philosophy.

"Agriculture," she says, "gives you a perspective on life that, in the long run, the little irritations don't really matter."



So many distractions. So little time.

Inside the house, at the office desk, Boss Computer's screen-saver weaves geometric shapes of changing color over the monitor. Waiting. Waiting. Waiting for me to return, plop into the worn swivel chair and get busy at keyboard.

Deadlines loom. And, as we all know, time waits for no man. Nor for a woman whose mind says, "Get at it!" but whose emotions whine back: "But it's SOOO nice outside!"

Lovely April days tease the inner kid that still lurks inside many of us. We want to be the last one in from the playground when the bell signals the end of recess. We want to daydream out the window when we're supposed to be finishing our math problems (or farm accounting records).

We want to linger outside as a deliciously-warm dusk falls, listen to the last songs of the day from a high-perched robin and watch the stars begin to twinkle. We want to plead, "Just one more minute?" to a mother calling us to come in and get to our homework.

This computerized taskmaster with its impatient curser line is not a mother waiting, waiting, waiting. It won't ground me from a social life or withhold my dessert until I finish this chore. Will it? (No, please, not dessert!)

So, reverting to this spring-induced, juvenile behaviour, I excuse myself from Boss Computer, with the reasoning that a load of wet laundry needs line-drying in the fresh air. When the last soggy sock is tacked to the line with a clothespin, I escape to the vegetable garden, where the season's most precious delicacy is just poking out of its bed.

Asparagus. Three years ago, I planted the small patch and have kept it mulched with manure-enriched straw bedding from the calf pens. Those tender, fat, pinkish tips, pushing up through the crumbly soil of the garden, will be plentiful reward for the digging, forking, mulching and weeding.

From there, it's just a few steps back to the perennial border, where mums transplanted by clumps from last year's location look wilted and bedraggled. A thorough, steady, soaking couple-inches of rain would do wonders to perk them up. In fact, a good, soaking, couple of inches of rain would perk up farmers, too — as well as firefighters who risk their lives battling brush and forest fires.

Several clumps of herbs have wintered well at the next stop, their corner of a raised bed. Perennial oregano sprawled from a single, three-inch flower pot size to a thick ground cover more than a foot-square in size. Gaps between neighboring stalks of thyme, rosemary and parsley can be filled with the seedlings of purple basil started in the greenhouse.

Joining me in my backyard wandering is Monk the cat, also fleeing her responsibility to keep the bean-bag chair warm. She rolls on her back in the clump of tender-leaved, catnip mint, a look of pure ecstasy on her furry face.

A scruffy, unplanted corner of ground at the springhouse pleads for some attractive addition to replace the weed volunteers. Having pondered over an ideal plant for this hot, dry spot for some time, inspiration suddenly strikes. The stately yucca Mom shared with me a few years ago is sending out baby plants. One will find a new home here.

Winds pick up as the sun slips behind a grayish cloud; Monk grumbles that she's chilly. Boss Computer is still there, waiting, waiting, waiting, weaving impatient geometrics.

When the kids were small and enjoyed wandering off on similar jaunts, I kept tabs on their whereabouts with a small cow bell, slipped onto a soft belt tied around their waists.

If Boss Computer threatens me with a bell, I'll yank its software.

So maybe you think Stihl equipment is "too good" for a suburbanite or farmer or anyone else who needs to cut wood on an occasional basis.

Well, we're happy to tell you that Stihl makes a whole series of chain saws with your needs in mind.

But don't confuse them with discount-store chain saws

All Stihl saws are designed for performance, ease of handling and starting, and durability.

Now, about the 026 shown at the bottom: we'll admit we sell this saw to professional woodcutters. But it's also bought by people who simply put a lot of hours on a saw every year.

Sports, Competition and Kids

"Play ball" — it's that time of year again — at least for Little Leaguers! Children are playing baseball and softball at all age levels. My own two children are in the midst of baseball and softball practice with the impending competition of games.

While many children are involved in sports competition throughout the year, many parents wonder what affect the competition has on their children. There has been research that indicates that losing in competition can be damaging to a child's self-esteem. Studies have also looked at the stress in young athletes which indicates that those children who are constantly pushed by parents and coaches run the risk of losing interest in sports because of the anxiety and stress associated with competition.

If you're concerned about burnout in your child, watch for the following symptoms: signs of agitation, sleep disturbances, nausea, headaches and muscle tension. Other signals might include signs of depression, lack of energy, sadness, and loss of interest. Another consideration is that a young athlete under constant pressure is more susceptible to injury. Children may even see injury as an "acceptable" way to avoid the pressure.

Parents and coaches play a major role in helping children develop a positive attitude and a lifelong desire to be physically active by removing the pressure to excel.

I think the first question adults need to ask themselves is if the children are involved in sports because they choose to be, or because the parents want them to be. From observing parents and coaches over the years, I have seen several trying to fill their own ego needs — the children aren't necessarily playing because they have a strong desire.

Take a positive approach — praising children for their efforts rather than focusing on what they could have done better. Children need to know their parents are proud of them — they can find enough fault in themselves on their own.

Focus on the game, not the score. Be sincere when you say, "Winning isn't everything." Focus on the child's developing skills and not the end score.

Match your child to the sport — self-motivated children are better suited to individual sports, such as running or swimming. A more low-key child may enjoy golf or recreational soccer. Take the time to try a few sports before getting involved competitively.

Have realistic expectations. It's important to keep in mind that not everyone can be a great athlete. Sports can be used as a way to teach children about limits and strengths. This can be an opportunity to set realistic goals. Emphasize the leisure value of sports and long-term health benefits.

Choose a sport matching the child's skill. Quality programs should take into account the developing child by making playing fields smaller and developing playing rules that allow all children to succeed!

Play with children. Playing with children, not in competition, is also important. Biking, hiking, and catch are a few recreational alternatives to competitive sports that can provide an opportunity for families to play together.

Know when to provide competition. Until adolescence, competition should be low-key and fun. Children should be assessed for their physical growth, and emotional and mental maturity when selecting a sports program.

Provide a variety of sports. Providing children with a sampling of sports activities helps to round out their physical, social and mental development.

Let the coach coach! Coaches and players all agree that parents are more effective as encouragers, not criticizers! Let the coaches do their job.

Finally, be a positive role model. By enjoying sports and good health practices for fun and fitness, children will see that competition isn't everything. The health benefits can make everyone a winner!

So, suit up and have fun cheering your child on to an active, healthy, positive lifestyle!

Contestants Wanted For Chicken Cook-Off

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — From heartwarming chicken and dumplings to chicken pot pie to chicken corn soup, the food of Lancaster County has earned a world-wide reputation for its hearty goodness.

In honor of the traditional Pennsylvania Dutch dishes that feature chicken as their main ingredient, Pennfield Farms will host its third annual Chicken Cook-Off event on Saturday, June 24, from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Lancaster County Food, Farm, and Fun Fest at the Artworks Expo Center at Doneckers in Ephrata.

The Pennfield Farms Pennsylvania Dutch Chicken Recipe Cook-Off is open to all cooks who wish to enter their favorite recipe for a traditional Pennsylvania Dutch dish and compete for $1,025 in cash prizes. Past events have featured chicken pot pie and chicken corn soup, but officials have decided to widen the competition to include a variety of chicken dishes.

"That could include chicken and waffles, chicken and dumplings, stuffed chicken, and, of course, the classics — chicken pot pie and chicken corn soup. The only limitations are that the dish features chicken and that it has traditional roots," said Tim Horn, marketing director of Pennfield Farms.

"Chicken is an essential ingredient in many popular Pennsylvania Dutch dishes and this contest is growing into a favorite tradition here in Central Pennsylvania. It's a great opportunity for people to show off the traditions that have been passed along through families for generations," Horn added, noting that several of the past winning chefs have won by adapting a family recipe and making it all their own.

The Pennfield Farms Pennsylvania Dutch Chicken Recipe Cook-Off is part of the countywide 1995 Pennsylvania Dutch Food Festival sponsored by the Pennsylvania Dutch Visitors Bureau. Five finalists will compete in the June 24 event, with the first place winner receiving $500, second place $250, third place $150, fourth place $75, and fifth place $50.

The preliminary judging of recipes will be done by Pennfield Farms and home economist, Mindy Rottmund. The written recipes will be narrowed down to select the finalists who will compete in the cook-off, which will be open to the public. Visitors will have the opportunity to watch the top cooks prepare their favorite recipes and to sample their efforts following the judging.

To enter the contest, entries for the Pennfield Farms Pennsylvania Dutch Chicken Recipe Cook-Off must be postmarked and received by May 22. The entries will be narrowed down to five finalists by June 7. All recipes must be original and not previously published. They should include Pennfield Farms chicken. The final judging will be based on flavor, appearance, texture, ease of preparation, and quality. Those entering the cook-off should send their neatly typed or printed recipe on an 8½ x 11 sheet of paper, accompanied by their name, address, and telephone number to Pennfield Farms Pennsylvania Dutch Chicken Recipe Cook-Off, P.O. Box 70, Fredericksburg, PA 17026. For further information, call Pennfield Farms at (717) 865-2153.

Preliminary judging for the third annual Chicken Cook-Off will be done by Mindy Rottmund, home economist for Pennfield Farms. To compete for $1,025 in prizes, enter your favorite traditional Pennsylvania Dutch recipe that includes chicken as an ingredient.

Ideas For Easter Dining

A delightful Easter dinner with traditional ham or lamb and candied yams and ending with homemade chocolate candy is high on the priority list for most folks.

No doubt by now, Easter dinner makings are well underway, but for the last-minute cook, here are some recipes to fall back on or to add to your next year's repertoire of recipes.

Happy Easter!

ROAST FRESH HAM WITH LEMON-HONEY GLAZE

6-7 pound boneless fresh ham

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Sprinkle ham with with 1 teaspoon salt and dash pepper; place on rack in a shallow roasting pan. If meat thermometer is to be used, insert in center of roast. Roast ham until thermometer registers 170 degrees for 3½ to 4 hours; during the last half hour, brush with lemon-honey glaze.

Lemon-honey glaze:

1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon honey

2 teaspoons firmly packed brown sugar

⅔ cup apple cider (no sugar added)

2 to 3 whole cloves

2 tablespoons lemon juice

In small saucepan, combine honey and sugar; heat until melted and bubbly; add cider and cloves and bring to a boil. Add lemon juice and continue cooking until some of liquid evaporates and mixture becomes syrupy, about 5 minutes. Glaze ham as directed above.

EASTER CHEESE

2 quarts milk

4 eggs

2 cups buttermilk or sour milk

1 teaspoon salt

½ teaspoon sugar

Heat sweet milk to boiling point. Beat eggs lightly. Add buttermilk, salt, and sugar. Beat lightly again. Pour slowly into hot milk.

Cover milk and allow to stand for several minutes. Stir slowly until mixture separates. Remove cheese from whey with a large slotted spoon or collander. Place cheese in mold and chill until set.

Delicious spread on bread with honey or molasses.

When Easter weekend arrives, many homes have overnight guests. If you are sharing a breakfast or brunch with family and friends, here is a recipe for Lemon-Raspberry Scones that evoke feelings of springtime.

They're quite simple to put together and make a lovely presentation when served with fresh fruit and small butter molds in Easter-y shapes. Served warm from the oven, these scones make the perfect foil for a homey Easter morning brunch.

LEMON-RASPBERRY SCONES

2 cups all-purpose flour

¼ cup sugar

2½ teaspoons baking powder

¼ teaspoon salt

⅛ teaspoon nutmeg

½ cup butter, chilled, cut into small pieces

½ cup milk

1 egg

1 teaspoon lemon peel

¾ cup fresh raspberries*

1 tablespoon melted butter

1 tablespoon sugar

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. In large bowl, combine flour, ¼ cup sugar, baking powder, salt and nutmeg. Cut in butter with pastry blender or two knives until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Combine milk, egg and lemon peel; mix well. Add milk mixture to dry ingredients mixing with fork just until dry ingredients are moist and a soft dough forms. Gently stir in raspberries. Gather dough into a ball and gently knead on lightly floured surface 8 to 10 times. Place dough on lightly buttered baking sheet. Pat into 9-inch circle, ½ inch thick. With sharp knife, cut through dough to form 8 wedges; do not separate. Brush top of dough with melted butter; sprinkle with sugar. Bake until golden brown, 20 to 22 minutes. Cut through scones, separating wedge; serve warm.

*Blueberries may be substituted for raspberries if desired.

All Gardens Great & Small

by York Co. Horticultural Agent Tom Becker

This is the second in a series of articles on WWII Victory Gardens. We'll discuss vegetable gardening in the early 1940s and see what lessons we can apply to 1995.

Your garden soil is the dinner table where your plants find their daily bread.

Victory gardens in the early 1940s assured ample amounts of fresh vegetables and fruits for home use during war-related food shortages. Even after the war ended in 1945, a media campaign for "gardening after victory" was conducted.

The language or "patriot thoughts" of the victory garden became part of the written language of gardening. Gardeners were told to "destroy" insect "invaders" and weed "saboteurs." We must be "vigilant of the fifth column" in protecting our gardens and "re-employ" control measures against our "enemy." A subtitle for a book read, "Vegetables, victuals, vitamins, and victory, with violets, verbenas and veronicas for variety."

Many different victory garden plans were available at this time. "Remember your victory garden will seem twice as large in July and August as it does now, so consider the time available and choose the size accordingly." Plans were designed to be expandable if more gardening area was desired or it needed to be designed for the locality and terrain.

• Victory garden plans existed for gardens as large as 50 x 100 feet, 50 x 60 feet, 30 x 50 feet, 25 x 40 feet and as small as 20 x 30 feet, 15 x 20 feet and 10 x 15 feet.

• A 30 x 50 foot plot produced 4-5 bu. snap beans; 12-15 qts. lima beans; 100 bunches of beets; 50 heads of cabbage; 45 pounds of carrots; 15 pounds of swiss chard; 20 heads of lettuce; 30 bunches of onions; 50 bunches of radishes; 40 pounds of spinach; 3 bu. tomatoes; and 5 bu. turnips or rutabagas.

• For a family of two, a 25 x 50 foot garden was adequate to supply all essential vegetables except sweet corn and potatoes.

• For a family of five, a 50 x 100 feet was recommended with intensive cultivation between 18' rows.

• A rule of thumb was to produce enough vegetables to put up 85 to 115 quarts for each family member per season.

• A half hour a day should be sufficient labor for the average-size garden, after the garden has been planted.

•In Pennsylvania, industiral firms were asked to provide at least 1000 square feet of land for each member of the employee's family.

In the early 1940s, gardeners were provided all the information needed to succeed with a victory garden. Previous gardening experience was not necessary.

The average dates of the last killing frost (May 1) compiled by USDA weather reports were used to plan sowing and planting times. To get the most from the soil a victory gardener must understand and respect it.

A soil not too heavy or too light is preferred. Ths soil should contain plenty of air, moisture, organic materials and fertilizer. Topsoil should be a minimum 8-10 inches deep.

Methods of digging practices in the early 40s include single digging and double digging. Techniques of seed sowing required the victory gardeners to smooth soil in the seed bed with a wooden rake. Narrow rows can be made with a pointed stick. Use the side of a hoe as a larger drill. Sow your seeds directly from a seed packet. Bush limas should be well spaced. Onion sets are sown in medium drills. Broadcast peas in a wide drill. Thin out seedlings. Cucumbers and melons should be sown in hills.

Vegetable seeds were easier to select than today. There were far fewer varieties to choose from. Hybrid seed only existed for sweet corn. A favorite hybrid sweet corn was "Golden Sweet Bantram" which produced (sometimes 2) 8 inch ears with 14 rows of light grains with sweet pulp. Hybrid sweet corn is highly resistant to disease and drought, as well as being more productive.

ROASTED LEG OF LAMB DIJONNAISE

¼ cup Dijon mustard
4 cloves garlic, minced
3 tablespoons olive oil
1 teaspoon dried thyme
Salt and pepper, to taste
5 pounds boneless leg of lamb, rolled and tied, with the bones if possible.

Combine mustard, garlic, oil, thyme, salt and pepper and set aside. Preheat the oven to 400 degrees.

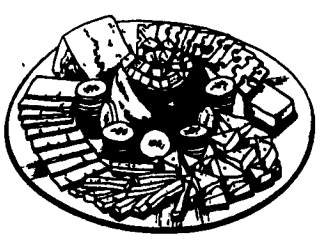
If you have the bones from the leg, place them in the bottom of a roasting pan and use them as a rack. If not, set a metal rack in the pan. Rub half of the mustard mixture over the lamb, and place the meat on the rack or bones. Roast for 1 hour. Reduce the temperature to 375 degrees and roast one more hour, brushing more of the mustard mixture on the meat from time to time, until done. For medium, a meat thermometer inserted in the thickest section of the lamb should register 135 degrees.

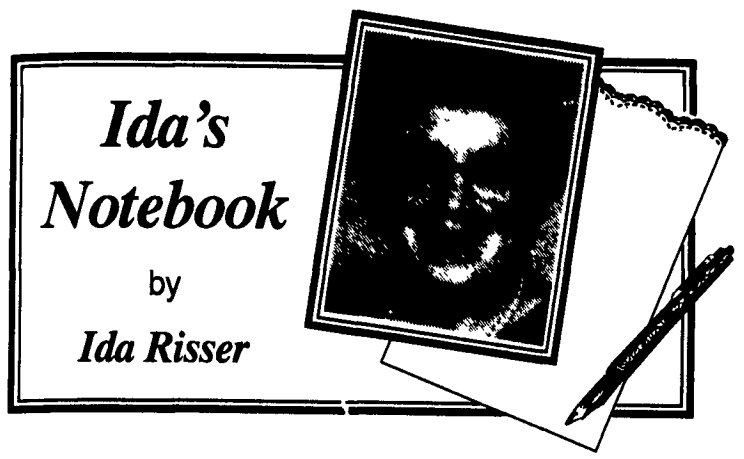
Transfer the lamb to a cutting board and allow to rest for 10 minutes before slicing. Cut half of the lamb, against the grain, into thin slices and serve.

DEVILED EGGS

1 tablespoon finely chopped green onions with tops, optional
1 tablespoon reduced-fat mayonnaise or nonfat mayonnaise dressing
1½ teaspoons milk
¼ teaspoon salt, optional
Chopped red pepper, optional

Cut eggs in half lengthwise. Remove yolks and set whites aside. In small bowl, mash yolks with fork. Stir in onion, if desired, mayonnaise, milk and salt, if desired, until well blended. With spoon, fork or pastry bag, refill whites using about 1 tablespoon yolk mixture for each egg half.





Lately I've been spending every spare minute trying to finish a braided rug. It is a long process as I start by ripping apart wool garments. Then I tear strips and baste them while watching television at night. When I have enough done, I start to braid and finally lace them together. Sometimes I do not have enough of one particular color and then I must substitute. This can turn out to be good or bad.

The other day I was interrupted by a phone call asking for help to stop a fire in corn fodder still laying in the field. This made me remember a day long ago when I looked out the window on the farm and saw the same field burning. My husband had started a fire and then went away in the truck and did not tell me about the bonfire. That time we were able to stomp it out with shovels but this time we thought it best to call the fire engines as the wind was spreading the flames rapidly toward a fence and trees. It is remarkable what a large stream of water can do to stop a fire.

Our grandchildren in Virginia phone us quite often to tell us what they are doing. The youngest is the most talkative. Both boys play on soccer teams that their father helps to coach. The oldest child, a girl, has won a trip to Washington D.C. and her parents are quite proud of her.

Our children won some honors in their day and I know that we were quite pleased with them too. There were scholarships, television appearances, and trips. Children nowadays seem to have more opportunities than I did.

Time To Color Easter Eggs

LORETTA GOLDEN
Cambria Co. Correspondent

JOHNSTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — It's time to begin coloring Easter eggs. A centuries-old craft called pysanky is a wonderful decoration for eggs.

Psanky are very fancy multi-colored eggs. It is a folk art that has come from the countries of Eastern Europe.

You will need adult supervision with this project. It works best to use hollow eggs. To do this, pierce both ends of the egg with a hat pin and insert this far enough into the egg to pierce and stir up the yolk. Blow into the narrow end and the egg will exit trhough the wide end, which has been enlarged slightly. The inside of the shell should be rinsed with a small amount of clear water. Pat the egg dry with a clean paper towel.

Now you are ready to begin applying a design. Before beginning, make sure your hands are clean; otherwise, you will leave smudges on your egg.

Eggs should be at room temperature and placed in vinegar and water to rinse the shell. The vinegar also prepares the shell to accept the dye.

An easy way to divide the egg in half is to place a rubber band around the egg and trace around it lightly with a pencil.

Use a kistka, an instrument that resembles an old-time fountain pen, to apply the wax. The tip of the kistka is heated slightly and beewswx is scooped into its reservoir above its tip. Again heat the kistka slightly and the beeswax will be free flowing. Seal the holes in the egg with the wax.

Anything drawn on the egg with the kistka will remain white.

The egg is ready to go into it's first color of dye. This is the lightest color of the sequence you wish to use.

Take the egg out of the dye and pat dry with a clean paper towel.

Use the kistka to fill in any spaces, lines, designs, etc. whicy you wish to remain yellow. Dye in the next darker color. Now you have some white and yellow protected. Continue with the kistka and dye. After the last color is applied, dry the egg for at least 10 minutes. No moisture can be on the egg for the last step.

At this point the egg looks rather messy since the beeswax is an ugly greenish-black color. It's difficult to imagine that this mass of wax is about to be turned into a work of art. The beeswax is removed by heating the egg near the candle flame and wiping off the wax with clean tissues.

After the wax is removed, finish the shell with shellac or varnish. This protects the dye.

The symbols drawn on the eggs mean different things. For example:

• Ribbon — the usual decoration around an egg means eternity.

• Dots or circles — stars or constellations.

• Nets — Knowledge — in Christian times they symbolize fishing for men.

• Leaf of flower — life or growth; beauty and children.

• Pine needles — suggest long life and health.

• Deer and horses — wealth and prosperity.

• Birds — fertility and fulfillment of wishes.

• Spider — healing powers and good fortune.

• Grapes — sign of good harvest.

Colors also have symbolic significance.

• White — purity

• Yellow — moon and stars; symbolizes successful harvest.

• Green — spring; freshness.

• Blue — sky, air, and good health.

• Orange — endurance and ambition.

• Red — sun; happiness in life; hope and passion.

• Brown — color of earth and harvest.

• Purple — color of royalty; represents faith and trust.

• Black — darkest time before dawn.

CUT COSTS, NOT QUALITY

No other forage harvester gives you uniform, first-class forage – and still delivers consistent, money-saving performance – like a John Deere Powr-Mizer™ Forage Harvester.

High quality starts with better crop control. The Powr-Mizer Harvester's four feedrolls send the crop mat to the cutterhead. The upper rear feedroll pivots along the cutterhead radius for controlled feeding – so the crop is metered evenly, regardless of crop volume, for a uniform length of cut.

A consistent return on your investment. The patented Dura-Drum™ cutterhead (right) features rows of segmented knives on a fully enclosed drum. Why segmented knives? First, they cost just $13.42* each, compared to $78.87* for a full-width knife. And segmented knives are easier to replace – simply ANSWER — Irene Noble, Springville, sent another formula for old-fashioned whitewash, which Vernon Bryant had requested. The recipe is from an 1891 cookbook by Ellia M. Blackstone.

Whitewash

Slack ½ bushel lime with boiling water, covering to keep in the steam. Strain through a fine sieve, add one peck salt dissolved in warm water. Add 3 pounds of rice flour made into a thin paste, ½ pound Spanish whiteing, 1 pound of clean glue dissolved in warm water. Add 5 gallons warm water to the mixture and after stirring well let stand a few days, covered to keep out the dust. The mixture should be hot when put on the walls. One pint will cover a square yard. Any coloring substance may be added except green as the lime destroys the color and the green makes the wash peel off.

Stray metal in your fields can wreak havoc on both the cutterhead and your cattle. Avoid trouble by equipping your Pour-Mizer Forage Harvester with a reliable Iron-Gard™ Metal Detector. It warns you of metals hiding in windrows, and automatically shuts down the feedrolls to prevent damage.

loosen three bolts, switch knives, and retighten.

Savings continue with a choice of fan speeds. In hard-to-blow crops, such as haylage, run the fan at 1,000 rpm for sure delivery. But in corn and other easier-to-blow crops, run the fan at 722 rpm to save power and fuel.

For consistent forage – and consistent savings – no forage harvester beats the value of a John Deere Powr-Mizer Forage Harvester. See one at your John Deere dealership.

102-Year-Old Master Farmer Brings History To Life

GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

MECHANICSBURG (Cumberland Co.) — G. Weir Strock remembers his parents talking about hearing the rumble of cannons at Gettysburg during the Civil War.

"They'd take the horses temporarily to the woods and hide them there. And Mother had a melodeon, a really good instrument. She hid it in the corn shocks," Weir said.

History came alive as G. Weir Strock, Pennsylvania's oldest Master Farmer, talked about his life at a recent family gathering.

Still quick-witted at age 102, Weir told stories from his century-long life.

Born on February 21, 1893 in Churchtown, Cumberland County, Weir has seen tremendous changes in farming during his lifetime.

Raised in the Churchtown-Lemoyne-Mechanicsburg area, Weir remembers when the West Shore of Harrisburg was mostly farmland. His earliest memories begin at the turn of the century at age seven.

"... and I had quite an experience that summer," Weir said. "It was a dry year. We had a dairy and furnished milk for a man that delivered it. The pasture was dry. And Dad got permission to drive the cows across the West Branch of the Susquehanna and pasture on the island (City Island).

"I was seven years old. Roy Ranck and I watched cows all summer. We drove them in straight down Market Street and got in the river there and drove them across the river. It was dry. You could go across the river without gettin' water much above your knees. Anyplace! We watched cows till dinnertime every day. They said they started me out in the morning with a broomstick in one hand and a piece of sugarbread in the other."

Weir remembers marketing potatoes with a Conestoga wagon when a severe thunderstorm hit.

"I did that when I was a boy," Weir answered a question asked by grandson Kent Strock about marketing crops through town.

"I drove a horse and a spring wagon. We had an orchard back of the barn at that time. I delivered potatoes, apples, and various things. I had a regular peddle route through Camp Hill and Lemoyne. I knew everybody. I kind of had a reputation for selling good potatoes. I sold a big wagon load."

The potatoes sold for 78 cents a hundred pound.

"While we're talking about that wagon, one time we put 80 bags of wheat on that wagon and hitched a pair of mules in the front and a pair of horses behind the mules. I rode in the saddle horse and guided the mules with the lead reins. I had to load it and unload it," Weir comments. "On my way home, a thunderstorm came up and scared the team. I guess the only thing that held the wagon bed and running gear and the two wheels behind was a bolt pin that went down through the bed and through the bolster on the axle. I must of hit a rut. The bolt pin jumped out and left the wagon and hind wheels sitting in the middle of the road, and I had a pair of mules and two horses going lickety-cut toward home. One saddle horse stumbled a little going down one hill, but it didn't fall. Oh, I was scared!"

Weir moved from a farm in Lemoyne to the Strock farm on Williams Grove Road in Mechanicsburg in 1901. When he turned 11, Weir joined the church and has remained a member for 91 years. He has 36 years of perfect Sunday School attendance.

Home Where The Buffalo Roam

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Give Sonny Hitz a home where the buffalo roam and he's a happy guy.

Sonny grew up on a dairy farm in Lebanon. "I hated milking cows but I loved farming," he said.

For years he was fascinated by the big, shaggy Bisons commonly referred to as buffalo. But it wasn't until he was off the farm for 10 years that Hitz took the plunge and purchased some Bison to graze on his parents' farm.

Four years ago, he purchased four head of breeding stock and chose the name, Majestic Bison Farm.

"I wanted to raise bison for meat to sell directly to customers and to restaurants," Sonny said.

Ironically, Sonny had never tasted bison before he took the plunge. When he did sample it, he wasn't disappointed. He said, "It's great meat. I prefer it over beef for taste and texture."

According to research, bison is considered an excellent red meat source that is low in fat, high in protein, and rich in flavor. It has less calories, fat, and cholesterol per serving than turkey, beef or chicken.

"I believe a health- and environment-conscious society will make bison's popularity grow," Hitz said.

Current research shows that a 3-ounce serving of bison has 93 calories, 1.8 grams of fat, and 43 mg of cholesterol. That's considerably less compared with the same amount of turkey that has 125 calories with 3 grams of fat, and 59 mg cholesterol. Or, beef with 183 calories, 8.7 grams of fat and 55 mg of cholesterol.

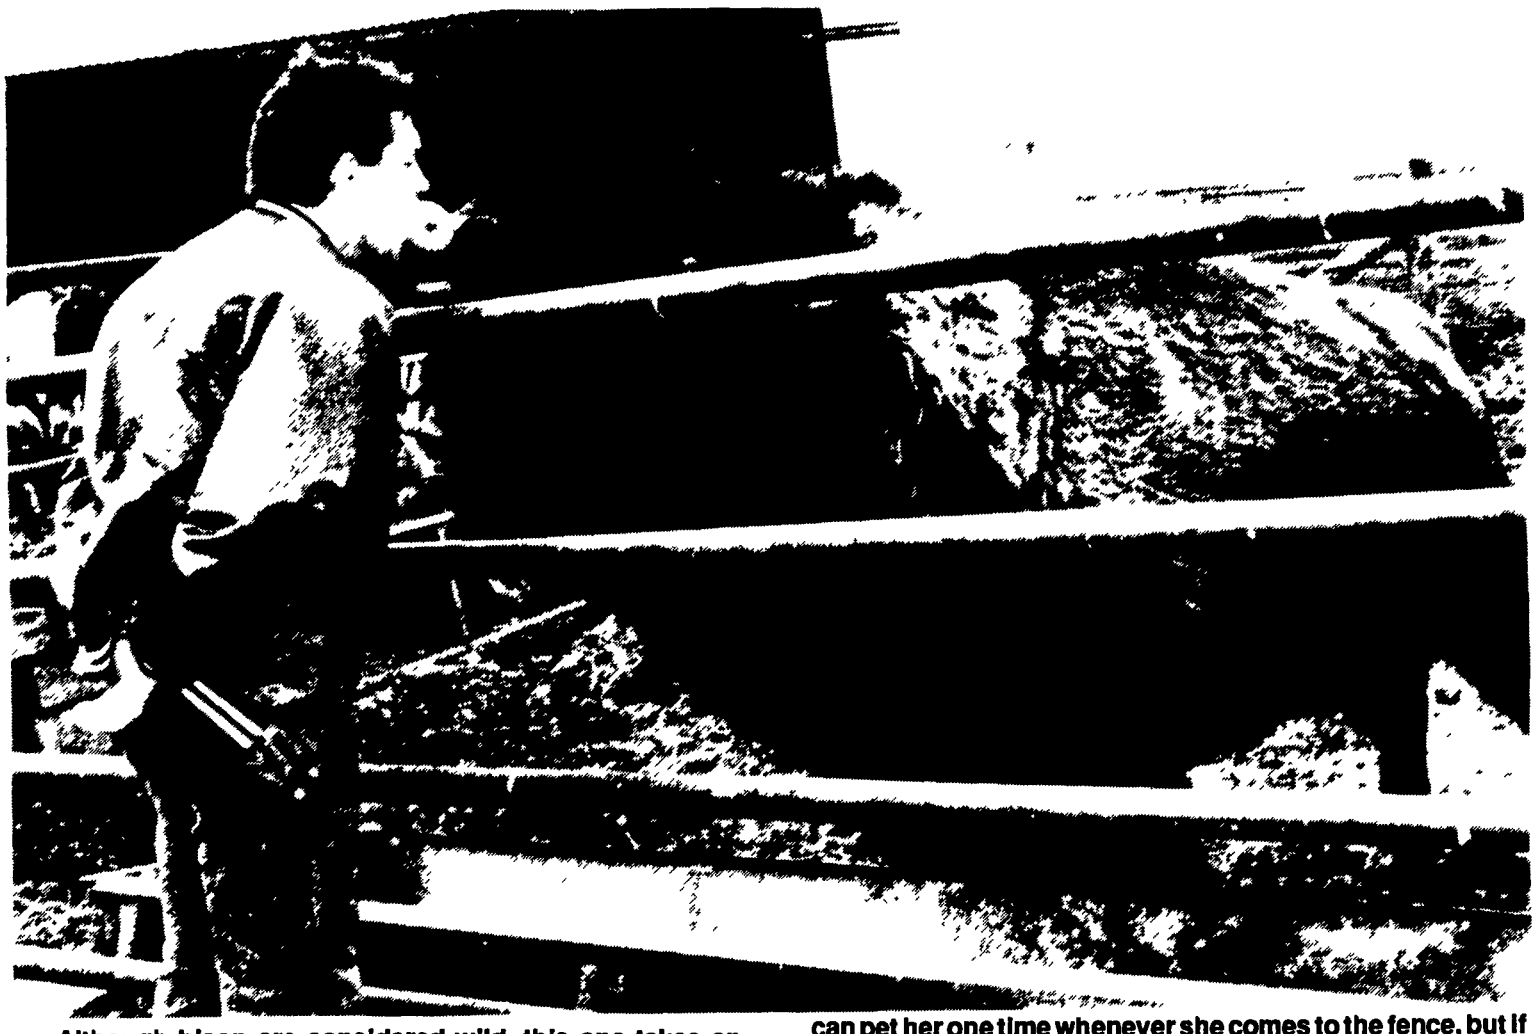
"Bison is more tender than beef unless overcooked," Hitz said. "If it is overcooked, it is too tough to eat."

He suggests that cooking temperatures and time be kept 50 percent lower than comparable beef cuts. He roasts a 2¾ pound boneless roast at 170 degrees for 15 minutes and then serves it.

About one year ago, Hitz purchased a bull that he allows to run with the cattle. He's expecting two offspring in August. Bisons have a nine-month gestation period.

"I'll need to take the bull out before the calves are born because the bull can't tell the difference between a cow that is calving or one that is in heat," he said.

Although bison are considered wild, one of the cows will allow Hitz to touch it. In fact, when Hitz holds an apple in his mouth, the bison will come up to the fence and take it from his mouth.



Although bison are considered wild, this one takes an apple straight from her master's mouth. Sonny Hitz said, "I can pet her one time whenever she comes to the fence, but if I try to do it the second time, she'll try to charge."

"But I can touch her only once. It I try to touch her the second time, she'll charge," Hitz said.

He is anticipating taming the offspring. He plans to remove it from the cow as soon as its born.

Hitz said that he knows a guy out West who tamed a bull buffalo to do stunts and race race horses.

"The bull never loses," said Hitz of the buffalo's established reputation for speed.

Buffalo easily break through fences if they start running and hit the fence on a dead run.

Hitz, himself, made sure he installed a sturdy seven-strand high tensile fence.

His herd has never escaped, but Hitz was concerned last year when a neighboring farmhouse burned to the ground.

Three fire companies responded and needed to drive and park next to the fence that borders the buffalo's pasture. The noise, people, smoke, and commotion terrified the bison.

"They ran around the perimeter of the fence for three days, but they didn't break through. I feel really confident of the fence, but they could possibly jump it. Bison are known to jump six-feet high," Hitz said.

Although the fence was previously electrified, it no longer is necessary because if fed and contented, bison normally stay within the boundaries.

Hitz's dream is to have a white buffalo. He said, "Any one who raises bison hopes to get a white one."

The albino bison is extremely rare. Hitz said that it is rumored that Hank Williams Jr. paid $100,000 for one, but that price isn't confirmed..

Care for bison is quite easy according to Hitz. They graze year around with some corn silage and hay added in the winter. Breeders should allow one acre per head for roaming and supplement it with hay.

"Bison are resilant and resistant to diseases that beef contract," Hitz said.

He doesn't medicate at all other than deworming twice a year.

"If the cattle were allowed to free-room, deworming would not be necessary," Hitz said.

At one time, bison roamed the plains in numbers so great that early explorers described it as "the plains were black and appeared as if in motion."

American Indians used bison for food, clothing, shelter, and many culture activities. By the late 1800s, bison were close to extinction because of white men's indiscriminated hunting practices. Through efforts of conservationists and ranchers who knew the value of bison, they are no longer an endangered species. They are known to have increased to more than 80,000 in public and private herds.

When purchasing breeding stock, Hitz said it is important to avoid close bloodlines. That is a potential problem because there are relatively few buffalo compared to beef.

The butchering weight is 1,200 to 1,500 pounds for a two- to three-year-old.

Bison have a 30-year lifespan and healthy cows are known to produce calves that long.

Drawbacks about raising bison are that they can't be herded, they won't tolerate confinement of any kind, and they can't be coaxed to load.

One time, Hitz patiently stood by for three hours waiting for a bison to finally walk up the ramp to the truck.

But he's not complaining.

"I love them. They're much better than beef for raising."

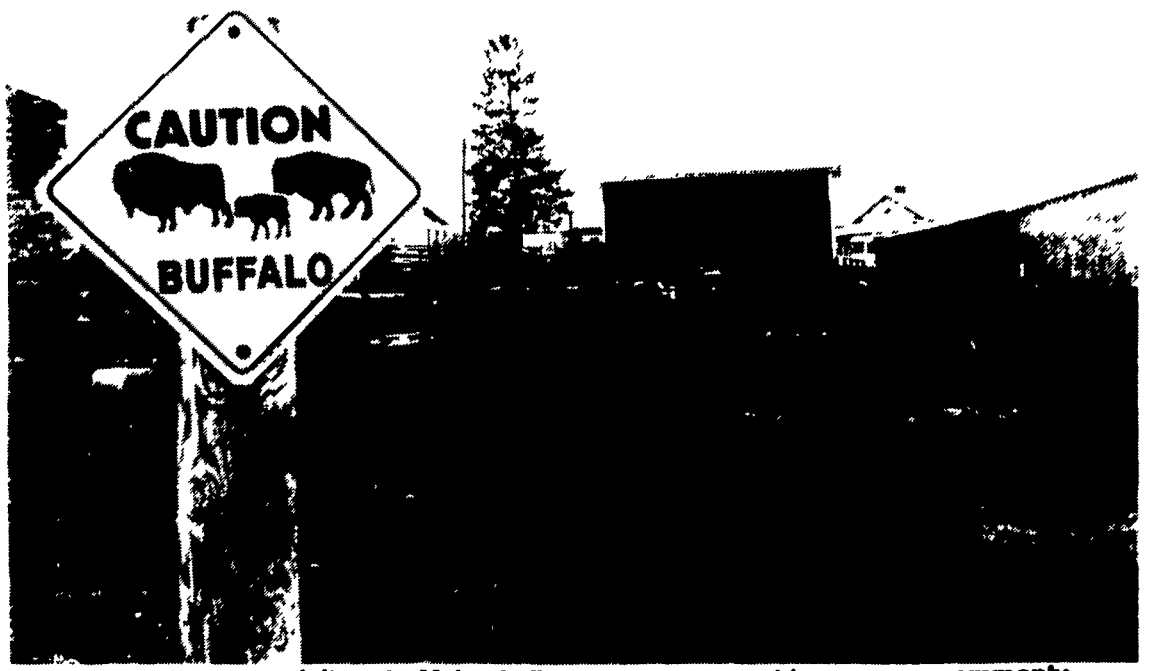
Hitz sells bison meat to individuals and to several restaurants.

"Some people are hesitate to try the meat because they think it will taste gamey," Hitz said. "But it isn't at all gamey tasting. It's sweeter tasting than beef. I always say, 'Bison tastes like beef wishes it did," Hitz said.

Hitz said that bison meat appeals to people of all ages.

"The demand for it is phenomenal. The baby boomers like it because they are health conscious. People my parents' ages and older like it because they need to cut down on their cholesterol."

Hitz may be contacted at Majestic Bison Farms, 2105 S. 5th Ave., Lebanon. Or call (717) 270-9107.



This sign greets visitors to Majectic Bison Farm, where bison, more commonly known as buffalo, roam.

4-H Camp Shehaqua Accredited For 1995

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — The Eastern Pennsylvania 4-H Camping Group has announced that their resident 4-H Camp Shehaqua has received accreditation by the American Camping Association (ACA).

"The Eastern PA 4-H Camping Group has always been committed to providing our 4-H members with the best camping experiences as possible," said Richard S. Kauffman, 4-H Coordinator for the Berks extension office and chairman of the Eastern Pennsylvania 4-H Camp Group. "By being ACA accredited, Camp Shehaqua exemplifies that commitment. The standards set by the A.C.A. are a large task and an important message to parents that tells them we care about our program, and most importantly our campers," said Kauffman.

This is the first 4-H camping program in Pennsylvania to receive ACA accreditation. The Eastern Pennsylvania 4-H Camping Group, which organizes and runs 4-H Camp Shehaqua located in Hickory Run State Park near White Haven, consists of 20 counties. The camp operates from June through August and sessions last five days. The program offers a wide variety of activities, such as shooting sports, nature, crafts, recreation and a specially designed ropes challenge course. The program provides opportunities for the entire age range (8-18) of 4-H membership as the junior members (8-13) attend as campers, and the senior members are trained as counselors.

ANSWER — A reader wanted to know how we determine whose answer to use when we receive duplicate answers. Generally we try to use recipes from a variety of readers. Some readers send in batches of recipes on a regular basis. If we haven't received other answers, we will use those, but we don't like to limit printing recipes from a few readers. Sometimes, answers are printed and later more answers are received. If there is room, we sometimes print additional answers. If not, we file them to use at a later date. Some appear several months later but if too many similar recipes are received, it may never appear. Sometimes one person sends in a batch of recipes to the same answer and we receive no answers from other readers. In that case, several recipes appear by the same reader. We appreciate those who send in recipes regularly but hope they understand that we cannot print all of them. We do not keep the full addresses of those who ask questions or send in recipes. We do not have the time to send personal replies.

The reader also wanted to know how we select feature stories. We are always looking for ideas. We want our readers to send in suggestions for features or people who they think will make an interesting subject.

The reader also wanted to know if visitors may tour the office and see how the paper is put together. Yes. Tours are given, but call in advance. Our staff will be happy to answer your other questions then.

ANSWER — R.B. Beiler, 862 Valley Rd., Quarryville, PA 17566, wanted to purchase old Hardy Boy books — not new versions. Thanks to a reader who wrote that she has some books she will sell. Contact Ruth Ann Brubacker, 595 Brown Rd., Myerstown, PA 17067-1839; (717) 933-4623.

ANSWER — Brenda Fouts wanted to know how to remove baked on grease from the bottom of an electric frying pan. Thanks to Mrs. Ray Keeny who has success using S.O.S. and Brillo pads. It may also be soaked in water with degreaser. Regardless of the method used, it takes lots of scouring.

ANSWER — Doris Hellerick, Antes Valley, wanted to know where to purchase seeds for celosia Pink Tassels. It is a tall plant, not the wheat celosia. Thanks to Hazel Spamer who sent the following addresses as sources. Stokes Seeds Inc. Box 548, Buffalo, N.Y. 14240-0548. Park Seed Co., Cokesbury Rd., Greenwood, S.C. 29647-0001.

102-Year-Old Master Farmer Brings History To Life

1900. He willed the farm to dad."

Weir remembers meeting his first wife at a party. He said, "We used to have parties held at different places. I was invited. I took one girl to the party and while I was there, I saw another one I liked better! That was Rhoda. I went with Rhoda five years before we were married. I was married April 2, 1914."

But before that, in the winter of 1912, Weir attended a 12-week course at Penn State, studying soils, crops, dairy, bookkeeping, and poultry. About 50 classmates — including two women — took the course. Weir remembers passing through the Creamery for one of his classes and the original Old Main on the campus.

In spite of modern advances, farming today still breeds its share of drudgery, but Weir has his own definition of drudgery.

"After we were married, we milked 30 cows by hand for a couple of years. That was drudgery! We got up at 3:30 a.m. and lit our lanterns — you know there was no electricity at that time — lit our lanterns and hung them in the barn. Milked a bunch of stable cows and then hung the lanterns in another stable."

During the next 20 years, Weir and Rhoda raised nine children. The oldest, Anna, died of pneumonia when she was nine.

Weir's crop and cattle experience is spotted with award-winning good times and heartbreaking hard times.

In 1938, he was recognized for a three-year average corn yield of 121 bushels. One of the fields had been fertilized by airplane. That's the same year that he received the Master Farmer award.

"You were supposed to be just a little better farmer than the average. And you were supposed to be something like a school director. I was a school director for 24 years, and a member of church and community organizations."

Throughout his life as a dairy farmer, Weir lost three herds to disease.

"First herd we lost was to foot and mouth disease. That was very contagious. That was in the neighborhood of 1918 or '20. I remember we dug a ditch 70 feet long, seven feet wide and seven feet deep. We drove the whole 38 head in a ditch and the state trooper shot them down like rats. I remember I led the bull in there by the staff. Of course, I got out of there before the shootin'! They covered them with lime first and then finished up with ground. The next herd we lost was to TB and the next one was to Bang's. We lost three herds."

Weir said that the other two herd were taken to a slaughterhouse in Harrisburg. He also said a cow milking 50 pounds a day was considered a pretty good cow.

"Now Paul (Weir's son) had a first calf heifer that milked 100 pounds a day. The second calf, she milked more than that. Two milkings! I never had a cow that milked over 96 pounds."

Weir bought and sold many farms in the course of his lifetime. In the 1930s and '40s, Weir purchased several farms in Williams Grove Road area of Mechanicsburg, hoping to ensure a future in farming for his sons. Four went into farming for themselves and those farms remain in the Strock name. Three are still active farms, two in dairy and one in turkeys, hogs, and crops.

Weir has outlived two wives and one son, and realizes good health and family as blessings from God. At last count, his family has grown to include 28 grandchildren, 45 great-grandchildren, and eight great-great grandchildren with three on the way.

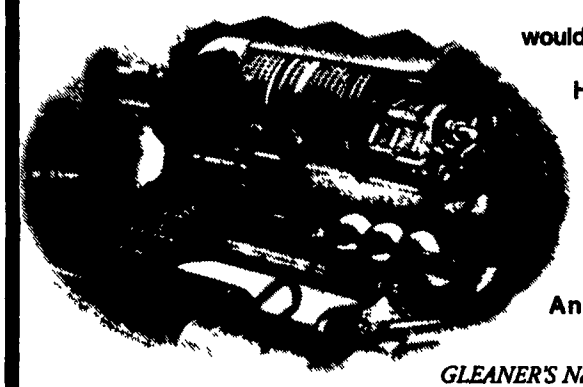
Weir says that he wouldn't know how to farm today. But after hearing his oral history, family members wondered if they could have farmed as he did.

The Weir family recorded Weir's account of life in the past century. In the next five years, family members hope not only to see the next century but also the next millennium. They want to pen what they see, hear, feel, know and experience for the coming generations.

A family member said, "It will become a living historical link in the chain that connects this generation to the next, just as Weir linked us to the rumble of cannons at Gettysburg."

We changed the entire direction of the combine business. And your crops are going to thank us.

If you don't have a GLEANER,® you're putting your crop through sheer torture before it ever makes it to the bin. That's because old fashioned combines subject your wheat to as many as five changes of direction, at incredibly high speeds, as it winds its way through the harvesting process. The GLEANER R52 wouldn't ever be so cruel. Our unique transversely mounted Natural Flow Harvesting System gives your crop a smooth straight run, from the header, straight through to our gentle angle swivel unloading tube. All of which means more of the extremely clean grain sample the GLEANER has long been known for. And a kinder, gentler way to farm.



GLEANER'S Natural Flow System feeds your crop straight through the harvesting process.

DENVER (Lancaster Co.) — The old adage, "If you want something done, ask a busy person," certainly applies to those who attended all-day seminars to learn how to effectively promote the dairy industry. The sessions held in several counties throughout the state in recent weeks are sponsored by the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services, Inc. (PDPPS).

Participants are largely dairy farm wives who are in charge of dairy promotion and the dairy princess program in their respective counties.

The annual sessions show participants how to schedule, report, and receive funding for promotional activities.

Dairy Promoters

maids, ambassadors, and representatives to make local promotion easier, effective, and more enjoyable.

"Dairy promotion is tremendously important part of the industry and no one is doing it for us. It becomes more and more complex as society gets farther and farther from its agricultural roots," Harding said.

Some of those obstacles that dairy promotion people need to deal with are animal rightists who are fighting to have all animal products stopped, and the soft drink industry, which spends $16 in advertising for every $1 the dairy industry spends.

PDPPS is one of the oldest grassroots program in dairy promotion in the country. It backs up whatever individuals can do in dairy promotion on a one-to-one basis in their respective counties.

Information, tools, inspiration, and resouces were introduced for use in classrooms, mall promotions, and meetings.

At the Lancaster County seminar, Dairy Council representative Carolyn Weaver introduced recently published nutrition education materials to make learning about nutrition easier than ever for school-age children.

Holly Gerke of PDPPS said that the organization will help with press releases, radio and television promotions, and have resources for promotional events.

To help participants deal with dairy stresses, Dr. Natalie Ferry, a former SUN area dairy committee member and an extension agent, explained how stresses can be identified and lowered.

Participants answered questions to identify whether they were Type A or B personalities. According to this theory, the personalities react differently to the same situations. Understanding your basic personality type can help to lower stress.

The ability to see change as a challenge is necessary because technology moves us along at a high rate and we must change whether we like it or not, Ferry said.

"Spring is the most stressful time of the year for farmers," Ferry said.

Between the months of April to June, more young farmers between the ages of 25 to 40 are at risk for suicide, more farmers over 60 have heart attacks, more accidents happen on the farm, and more conflict happens within the family.

To increase productivity and safety, farmers must get off the tractor and eat meals in the house rather than working around the clock.

To reduce stress, Ferry said, you must come to the realization you are not a super person and learn to say no to extra when appropriate. Learn to talk out your concerns and treat your body like a temple by eating a balanced diet, limiting caffeine and sugar, quit smoking, get plenty of sleep, take breaks, relax, and exercise.

"It is important not to cut back on social activities during this time because they help to keep a positive outlook and reframe negative thoughts.

"People with a good sense of humor live longer and have less illnesses," Ferry said. "If you can laugh, it calms you down, and you can deal with any situation."

Seminar participants receive packets of information to guide them in promoting the dairy industry.

IS CHOLESTEROL IMPORTANT FOR IMMUNITY?

Dr. Magdi Mashaly
Associate Professor
Poultry Science
Cort Bucher* And Ahmed Gehad*

The misconception about the relationship between cholesterol in the diet and human health definitely has had an adverse effect on egg consumption in the U.S. This, in turn, results in a reduction in egg prices and lower profitability for poultry producers.

It is important to know that blood cholesterol in humans is not only derived from dietary sources, but also is naturally synthesized in the body. The amount synthesized in the body depends on the amount consumed in the diet.

When low levels are consumed, the body may be required to synthesize large quantities to meet body needs. The reason the body synthesizes cholesterol is because of its importance in different vital physiological functions. For example, cholesterol is a precursor of different important steroid hormones such as progesterone, estrogen, and androgens which are important for reproduction functions. Therefore, maintaining a certain level of circulating cholesterol is essential for proper physiological functions in the body.

To emphasis this point, we conducted an experiment using three genetic lines of mature male Japanese quail obtained from Dr. H. L. Marks, Southeastern Regional Laboratory, USDA. The first line was selected for high circulating levels of cholesterol, the second was selected for low cholesterol levels, and the third was unselected and served as a baseline.

We used two dietary treatments with each line. One diet contained 2,900 kcal/kg ME with 20 percent protein with .5 percent crystalline cholesterol added. The second (control) diet was similar to the first but without cholesterol added.

Total cholesterol in the blood was measured in all birds. To measure the effect on immunity, the activity of lymphocytes were measured by determining the rate of their division. Lymphocytes are the most important white blood cells in eliciting an immune response.

We found that when we combined results from all genetic lines, adding cholesterol to the diet increased blood cholesterol by 700 mg percent (from 250 mg percent to 950 mg percent). Furthermore, lymphocyte activity of the quail fed cholesterol was reduced when compared to control quail. This indicated that when cholesterol levels were extremely high, the immune response could be inhibited. However, we also found that when cholesterol levels in the blood were reduced to 167 mg percent in the low line, activity of lymphocytes were also inhibited when compared with the high line that had cholesterol level of 374 mg percent.

These results confirm the notion that a certain level of blood cholesterol is needed to maintain proper immune response.

Jackpot Show July 29

YORK (York Co.)—The Pennsylvania Livestock Association is sponsoring a Jackpot Show on July 29 for steers, barrows, and lambs in conjunction with the Keystone National Rib Cookoff and Music Fest. The Rib Cookoff will run from July 27-30 at the York Fairgrounds and is a fund-raiser to support the Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

All youth ages 8-19 are reminded to consider this event when purchasing project animals this spring. The jackpot show is only for steers or barrows, but ewe lambs and wethers are eligible in the sheep division of this market animal event.

Jackpots for the three shows total a minimum of $1,600. The champion steer will receive at least $500, the champion barrow $250, and the champion lamb $250. There are guaranteed minimum premiums for the top five placings in each class. A supreme champion of all three species will be selected.

BETTER FILTRATION.

New Della-Flow™ Milk Filters from Alfa Laval Agri are designed to perform better than any other filter on the market today. Seventy-five percent of the dairymen who tested the New Della-Flow filters believed they retained as much sediment as the top-rated orange-stripe filters currently on the market and a full 25% believed New Della-Flow filters retained more.

This superior filtration is due to a special fabric weave that exceeds burst strength needs by almost 100% and more easily traps small particles. And the more sediment that's retained, the higher the quality of milk and the greater the potential for profits.

BETTER MILK FLOW.

In long-term testing among dairymen, nearly 90% rated the New Della-Flow™ Milk Filter as excellent in terms of milk flow.

This superior milk flow is achieved because of New Della-Flow filter's special fabric design and a seam that's sewn, rather than glued like the competition. The sewn seam not only makes the filter easier to install, it provides 4-10% more surface area for better milk flow. And better milk flow means faster milking and less wear and tear on valuable milking system components.

BETTER VALUE.

The special fabric weave and sewn seam add up to a better value for you. Why? Because those features enable us to fit more of the New Della-Flow™ Milk Filters into each box than the orange-stripe and other glued-seam competitors. In fact, you'll find 10% more filters in each New Della-Flow box — for about the same price That's a savings you can pocket immediately

What's more, the savings you'll realize from the New Della-Flow filter's better filtration and milk flow will just continue to add up.

BETTER GIVE 'EM A TRY.

Better filtration. Better milk flow. Better value. If that's not enough reason to try New Della-Flow™ Milk Filters, here's another: A free trial sample. To get your free trial sample, mail this coupon, see your nearest independent Alfa Laval Agri™ dealer or call 1-800-495-8377 today.

Protect Corn From Early Insect Attacks

GOLDEN VALLEY, Minn. — Mild winters often result in heavier-than-normal insect pressures. To avoid early season insect damage this year, growers should consider applying an insecticide at planting, advises Norm Klein, Northrup King Co. agronomist for the High Plains.

Several insects will attack the seed itself, destroying the germ or feeding on the germinating tissue. According to Klein, common early season pests include white grubs, wireworms, seed corn beetles and seed corn maggots. Problems with white grubs are most likely in fields where manure has been applied. Wireworms, which are typically found in grass roots, can be especially troublesome in corn fields planted after wheat. Seed corn beetles and seed corn maggots often attack seeds when corn planting conditions result in poor seed-to-soil contact.

To minimize damage from these insects, Klein suggests growers apply a planter-box seed protectant to the seed. These treatments will protect corn from attacks by pests such as seed corn maggots and wireworms. However, the Northrup King agronomist warns that seed treatments do not protect seedlings. An at-planting insecticide is needed to protect corn plants from insects such as rootworms.

If conditions suggest severe insect problems, a seed treatment coupled with an insecticide banded over the row may be warranted. Klein recommends growers consider a T-band insecticide treatment. The T-band delivers a portion of the insecticide into the furrow and also applies a band over the row. However, not all insecticides are labeled for this type of application, so growers should read and follow product label instructions.

For additional advice on controlling early season insects, growers can contact a local Northrup King agronomist by calling (800) AGVISOR.

Agent Receives International Award

CLAYTON, N.J. — Jerry Frecon, an agricultural agent with Rutgers Cooperative Extension of Gloucester County, was the recent recipient of the International Dwarf Fruit Tree Association's (IDFTA) Distinguished Service Award for Extension.

The award is presented annually by the association for outstanding extension education. The award was presented at the IDFTA's annual conference in Hershey, Pa. in early March by Darrel Oakes, president of the 1,400 member international association of fruit growers, nursery managers, extension and research personnel from 25 countries involved in the production and marketing of fruit.

In presenting a plague and citation, Oakes said, "Mr. Frecon's extension program in New Jersey is recognized as one of the best in the United States, particularly in the area of cultivar evaluations and recommendations. He speaks at many meetings each year. Mr. Frecon publishes frequently and has received more than 40 grants for his work," said Oakes. "Most importantly, when we talk to the growers in his area, we find that even with his many involvements and responsibilities, the interests of those he serves come first."

Past recipients of the award have been from Michigan, British Columbia, Italy and New Zealand. The International Dwarf Fruit Tree Association is an educational organization with offices in Wenatchee, Wash. and Millersburg, Pa.

Ciba Seeds Receives Registration For Transgenic Corn

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Ciba Seeds (a division of Ciba-Geigy Corporation) was recently granted a limited registration from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for commercial production of corn hybrids genetically engineered for protection against crop pests.

This represents the first time a federal regulatory agency has approved commerical scale production of a transgenic corn crop. However, a registration allowing marketing and sale of the material is still under review at EPA. A decision by EPA regarding full commercial approval is expected within the next severai months.

Commonly referred to as "Bt corn," this particular product is genetically modified for protection against European corn borer, an insect pest that annually costs U.S. corn producers nearly $1 billion in yield losses.

This grant of registration enables Ciba Seeds, a world leader in crop biotechnology, to produce commercial quantities of transgenic corn on more than 9,000 acres in 1995 for the 1996 growing season. The EPA also granted to Ciba Seeds an Experimental Use Permit (EUP) for research activities on approximately 400 acres during this period.

New One-Pass Conservation Planting Team

KALIDA, OH—Unverferth Manufacturing Company announces the availability of its Zone-Tillage™ System Planting Team—the pairing of the Rawson Zone-Till™ Cart with the best choice of planting units available. Working together, they create the ideal one-pass conservation tillage planting system.

The Rawson Zone-Till™ Cart features the Zone-Tillage™ system's patented three coulters per row. The adjustable width coulters work in unison to completely till a four-to-eight-inch wide seedbed that encourages faster soil warmup, more uniform germination and early plant growth. The cart's independent hydraulic control allows on-the-go coulter depth adjustment for prescription planting precision.

The Zone-Till™ Cart also features a high-capacity liquid fertilizer tank that allows the operator to spend more time planting between refills. Stainless steel liquid injection nozzles are standard for one side of each row, dual injection nozzles are available for both sides.

The field-proven planting and insecticide units, available in six- or 12-row models, were developed specifically for operation in high-residue, low-tillage environments.

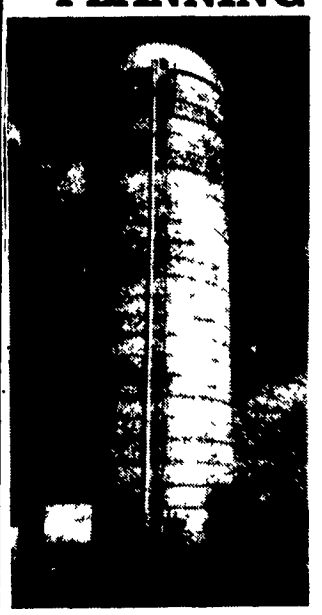
"THINK CONCRETE WHEN PLANNING FEED STORAGE"



30'x100' With Big Jim Drive Thru

"The Big Jim is doing a fine job bringing the feed down. We really believe the drive-thru, Big Jim System is worth anyone's consideration. It is costing more every year to grow forages and we feel our minimal quality and quantity losses are easily paying for the additional initial cost of this investment compared to that of a bunker. We are throwing no feed away and the cows are milking the best they ever have." (over 90 lbs. per cow.)

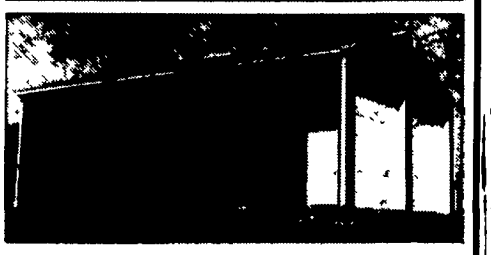
Side with Alumax ALU-TUFF Steel



When you put up a building, you expect it to be attractive and to last. A building constructed with ALU-TUFF will meet those expectations. That's because ALU-TUFF is made using top-quality materials, super-tough protective coatings, and a unique rib design that's both functional and attractive.

Years from now when other buildings are starting to show their age, your building will still look good.

- A STRONG PROFILE
  High 3/4-inch ribs on nine-inch centers give ALU-TUFF exceptionally high spanning properties for its weight and thickness, while stiffening ribs in flat areas prevent rippling.
- MADE TO LAST
  To keep Alu-Tuff working hard and looking good for years to come, we protect it with an oven-cured system of four different coatings.
- A GREAT LOOKING PANEL
  You don't have to sacrifice good looks to get a tough steel panel.
- MORE QUALITY FEATURES
  Each ALU-TUFF sheet is 38 inches wide to provide 36-inch coverage. That's wide enough to minimize the number of side laps, yet narrow enough to be easy to handle.

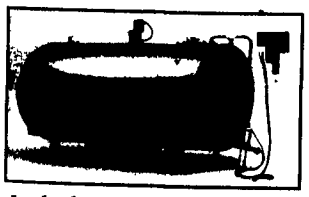
DAIRY FARM EQUIPMENT

Scroll-Compressor Technology
New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

Equipment is only part of the cost of cooling milk

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller® milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31 000	$28 000
Cost of electricity @ 08 kW for 12 000 lbs milk/day for 10 years	$17,550	$22 850
Total operating cost for ten years	$48 550	$50 850
Savings	$ 2 300

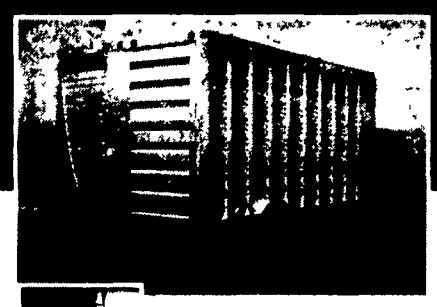
Agriculture Moves on EBY Bodies



M.H. Eby custom-builds aluminum truck bodies for the agri-transportation market. Nobody offers more sizes and options in:

- LIVESTOCK BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of heights and widths.
- GRAIN BODIES - Lengths to 24'; landscape and general purpose dumps to 12'.
- FLATBED BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of 5 widths.

For greater payload capacity, Eby's aluminum design is equal in strength to steel and up to 40% lighter. Our corrosion-resistant components never need painting. That means minimum maintenance, improved appearance and higher resale value.

Eby products have superior standard features. And we offer custom options for virtually any application. Agriculture is your business- building bodies to haul it is ours.

Let EBY custom build one for you.

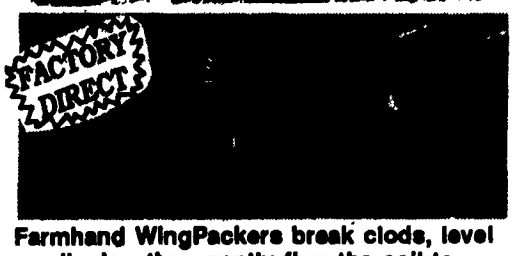
Levels Firms Seals



Farmhand WingPackers break clods, level seedbeds....then gently firm the soil to reduce air pockets and seal in moisture. Flat fold WingPackers range from 19' to 36' wide. Behind a disk harrow or field cultivator, they're an ideal final tool before planting. Behind a drill, they gently but firmly pack soil to increase seed-to-soil contact, improving germination for even field stands.

Gehl TMR Mixer Feeders Are #1

Nothing can maximize the return on investment in your dairy or beef feeding operation like a Total Mixed Ration (TMR) feeding system. And nothing makes TMR work better than a Gehl mixer feeder. Here's why:

- Better Mixing Action — Unique four-auger design creates a double figure-8 mixing pattern for fast and complete mixing of all feed ingredients.
- Energy Efficient — Planetary drive system requires less horsepower.
- Built To Last — Patented star couplers absorb shock loads by allowing the bottom augers to flex, providing long service life.
- Six Sizes — From 150 to 500 cubic feet mixing capacities.
- Three Styles — Trailer type, stationary and truck-mounted units to fit your operation.

Most Mix-All owners will never buy another.

Model MX125 And Model MX170 In Stock

In fact, you'd probably have a hard time convincing Gehl Mix-All® owners to even look at anything else. And why should they?

The Mix-All's big 21-inch wide hammermill features 66 reversible thin hammers that cut, rather than pound the feed to deliver a more consistent grind and ensure uniform mixing for a better feed conversion rate.

Gehl's self-contained hydraulic system is designed-in, not added on. It provides the precision of infinitely variable in-feed attachment control to match tractor power for greater grinding capacity. Plus you get fast, smooth, trouble-free unloading with greater reliability.

And a wide variety of options and attachments lets you customize your Mix-All to fit any operation.

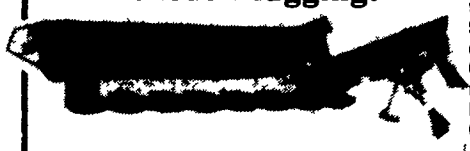
A Gehl Disc Mower Will Cut Your Most Difficult Crops Quickly Without Plugging!



Reliable, proven heavy-duty disc cutterbar features gear-driven discs, rotating at 3,000 rpm. Gears and bearings are sealed in an oil bath for less wear and long life. The low profile cutterbar design assures a uniform cut, even in dense crops.
Positive four-V-belt drive transmits power to the bevel gearbox.
Self-adjusting compensation spring delivers accurate cutterbar down pressure.
Cutting height is easily adjusted by the tractor top link.
Hydraulic cutterbar lift is standard.

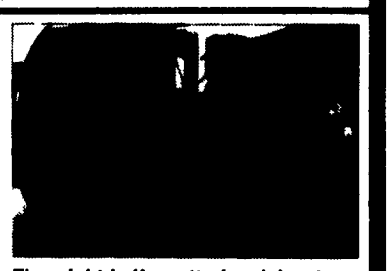
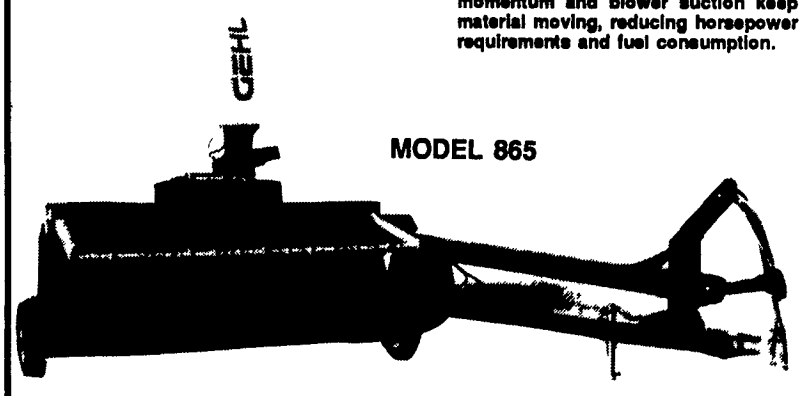
Gehl-The First Name In Forage Harvesting

Model 865 delivers high-capacity at an economy price for extra value. The 865 is designed for use with tractors from 60 to 150 horsepower (1,000 rpm) or up to 120 horsepower with 540 rpm.

Standard equipment includes an in-head hydraulic knife and cutterbar sharpening system, electric controls, one-way shear-bolt protection system, single station cutterbar adjustment and an overrunning clutch. Gehl's Metal-Stop™ metal detector is an available option



The eight-knife cutterhead is close coupled to the blower for continuous inline crop flow from the cutterhead to the blower to the spout. The cylinder is actually set into the blower compartment, speeding material flow from the cutterhead into the blower cylinder momentum and blower suction keep material moving, reducing horsepower requirements and fuel consumption.



High Capacity With Unmatched Economy

The highly efficient Model 865 uses less horsepower per chopped ton than larger model forage harvesters.

- And you still get engineered dependability just like you always have with KRAUSE.

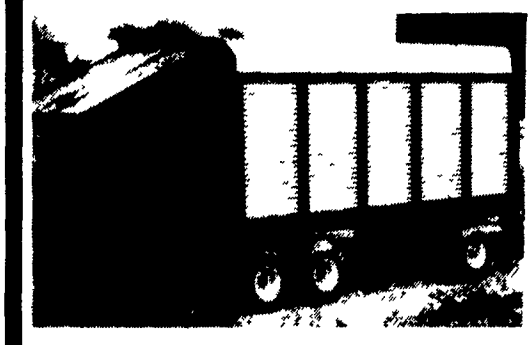
MILLER PRO

New Equipment For Farming In The 1990's

THE ULTIMATE FORAGE BOX



Defining the standards for innovation and durability in forage box design.

- Flexible Engineered Formed Steel Construction gives our forage box integral strength, with dynamic tolernace to flex as terrain and load varies. Our forage boxes were tested in the roughest, wettest conditions we could find... and they will withstand stresses caused by changing loads and field conditions.
- Consistency of Speeds is a major advantage of our 4-speed positive gear transmission. Control is smooth and predictable, and the Model 5100 clean out is faster than most boxes on the market. Variable speed drives on other manufacturers' forage boxes cause the apron speed to fluctuate as a result of the ever-changing load.

HYDRAULIC DUMP BOXES

- Large Capacity - Up to 1,100 cubic feet and 24,000 pounds dumping capacity.
- Low Loading Height - Works with most standard harvesting equipment
- High Dump Height - 11 foot clearance fills most trucks or semitrailers with ease.
- Fast Cycle Time - Unloads in less than a minute.
- Rugged Dependability - All steel construction and reliable slaved-cylinder hydraulics.
- Easy Operation - Automatically lifts, shifts and dumps

Brillion Field Enhancer Tillage Tools And Seeders

SURE-STAND GRASS SEEDERS
REDESIGNED FOR THE 1990's

Save up to 50% on grass seed with a Brillion "Sure-Stand" Seeder. Recognized the world over as the best seeding method for planting grasses and legumes.

Grass seed is a very expensive commodity. By properly placing the grass seed in the top ½ " of a properly prepared seedbed you will realize maximum seed germination.
Because of Brillion's precision placement of the seeds, seeding rates can often be cut to nearly half of the rates previously used. In many cases the savings in seed alone will pay for a "Sure-Stand" Seeder in just a short time.

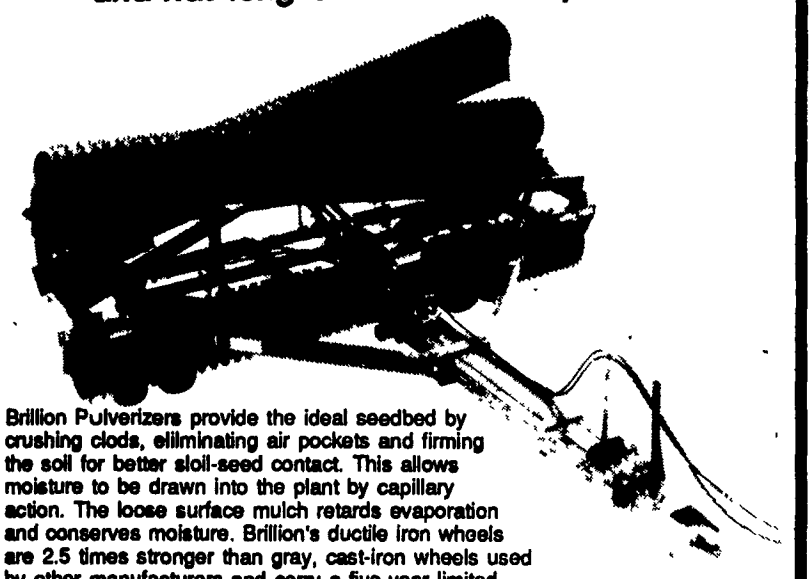
THE PULVERIZER LEADER

Brillion has manufactured pulverizers since 1895 and has long been the industry leader



Brillion Pulverizers provide the ideal seedbed by crushing clods, elilminating air pockets and firming the soil for better sloil-seed contact. This allows moisture to be drawn into the plant by capillary action. The loose surface mulch retards evaporation and conserves moisture. Brillion's ductile iron wheels are 2.5 times stronger than gray, cast-iron wheels used by other manufacturers and carry a five-year limited warranty.

"Charlie's new lagoon pump sure is fast!"
"That's because it's one of those new Van Dale 5000s."

Fast and powerful only begins to describe Van Dale's new line of Series 5000 Lagoon Pumps. The Series 5000 has the perfect combo of agitation volume and pressure to break up hard surface crust or bottom manure solids in even the largest lagoons or pits.
